FDR Asks Nine Billions In New Taxes

WAR BUDGET SKYROCKETS FEDERAL DEBT

Figure Will Rise To Record $110,000,000,000, Chief Executive Declares.

HIGHEST OF ALL TIME

Calls For Increase In War Spending Per Month To $5,000,000,000.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Bespeaking the nation's determination to "pay whatever price we must to preserve our way of life," President Roosevelt called today for a war budget of $56,000,000,000 for the next fiscal year, $9,000,000,000 of new taxes on top of all existing taxes, and unprecedented borrowing that would send the federal debt above $110,000,000,000.

"This is a war budget," he said in his annual budget message to congress. "Its magnitude and composition depend on events at the battlefronts of the world. x x x nothing short of a maximum will suffice. I cannot predict ultimate costs because I cannot predict the changing fortunes of war. I can say only that we are determined to pay whatever price we must to preserve our way of life."

He added at a press conference that it was the biggest budget in the history of the world. It called, the president said, for a step-up in the rate of war spending from the current $2,000,000,000 a month to $5,000,000,000 a month.

To the public he said that it meant heavy new taxes because "a fair distribution of the war burden is necessary for national unity."

It also meant, he declared, that the people would have to do without "many conveniences and luxuries" so that the nation may "shift labor, materials and facilities from the production of civilian articles to the production of weapons and other war supplies."

Technically, the budget con-

Takes Action On Protest In Train Noise

Council Refers Bowman Residents' Pleas for Enforcement.

Pleas of scores of residents in the Bowman street area complaining of excessive bell ringing and whistle blowing by railroad trains were referred to the service-safety department by city council last night.

Council President Howard G. Miller, calling attention to the fact that the communication was an enforcement matter rather than a legislative one ruled it should be sent to service-safety department for enforcement of ordinances already covering the subject.

The ruling places the matter where residents said their earlier complaints brought no action. The communication sent council by B. Louise Atkins, 321 Bowman street, said earlier complaints to Mayor William J. Locke had not brought any results in curbing the disturbance. The mayor replied, the communication said, that he hoped a viaduct could be built there to solve the problem. Railroad officials have said that they are required to give signals at crossings.

The letter said it represented the protests of more than 100 residents of the Bowman street area. It called attention to ordinances already on the city's legislative books which gives measures to punish persons violating the ordinance.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton, to whom the complaint was referred, said that he would start an investigation of the matter.

"This is the first official notice I have had of the disturbance," said Crafton. "I will investigate the matter carefully to learn if anything can be done to relieve the situation."

GETS PEN TERM

Ex-Detroit Mayor Sentenced on Conspiracy Charge.

DETROIT —(INS)— Former Mayor Richard W. Reading today was sentenced to from four to five years in Jackson prison by Circuit Court Judge Earl G. Pugsley on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice in the operations of a $10,000,000 policy and numbers game.

Also sentenced with reading were 11 suspended policemen and 10 alleged gamblers, including John Roxborough, co-manager of Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis.

Roxborough was sentenced to two and one half to five years in prison.

Mercury Plunges Below Zero for Third Day In Row

Mansfielders today saw the mercury drop to four below zero for the third consecutive day of below-zero readings as the winter's worst cold wave continued to grip Ohio and most of the middle west.

There is no relief in sight for at least another day, according to the weatherman, who predicted continued cold tonight with maybe a little more snow to add to the discomfort of shivering Ohioans.

The weather "warmed up" to 9 above in Mansfield yesterday afternoon, but a brisk wind that blew the cold through houses made them harder to heat than they were Monday when the temperature was lower. Snow fell late last night to form a slippery coating over the streets in the city.

Yesterday's average reading was 7.5 degrees as compared with the normal 30.5 for the date. The reading was only slightly above zero at noon today.

Duluth, Minn., reported 26 below zero this morning, the lowest in the nation.

Apartments Rent Quickly!

There is no reason why anyone should have a vacant apartment. Mrs. Joseph Haupt, 224 West Third St., reports that her ad in The News-Journal brought over 12 calls the first night it was published. This shows that many people are looking for a suitable apartment in which to live this winter.

A vacancy costs you much money—a want ad to rent the vacancy costs very little. Dial 4251-6 now . . . an experienced ad taker will help you write your ad.

Council Appoints New Clerk At Tension-Packed Initial Session

Black Named To Job Held By Beer Who Then Walks Out

By WILLIAM F. MURRAY

Mansfield's new Republican-controlled city council swung into action last night and, in accordance with a more or less political custom, it discharged a Democratic council clerk and hired a Republican, at a tension-gripped meeting in which it found itself without the services of a clerk for more than a half hour.

Selection of a clerk was among the first items of business taken up by the new council which is made up of seven Republicans and two Democrats, along with a Democratic president. It took the place of a council made up of six Democrats and three Republicans.

The councilmen appointed R. R. Black, jr., 427 Glessner avenue, salesman in radio and electrical appliances, to take the place of William J. Beer, jr., who has been clerk for 13 years. Beer was replaced by a six to three secret ballot.

Surprise of the meeting came when announcement of Black's election was made. President Howard Miller read results of the vote. There was a moment of almost complete silence which was broken when Beer rose from his chair, put on his hat and coat and walked out the door. He turned slightly toward council and said: "Well, I'm just Citizen Beer now."

Beer expressed surprise at his replacement, saying later that as late as yesterday afternoon at least two Republican members had assured him that he had five council votes which would give him re-election.

R. R. Black, jr., newly appointed council clerk, begins his new job today, learning the "ropes" from his predecessor, William J. Beer (seated) who will remain as assistant clerk for another month.

Beer's exit brought on several minutes of confusion in the council chamber. A clerk was needed, newly-elected Black was not present and the confusion lasted until the councilmen appointed City Auditor Paul L. Kelley as acting clerk.

Next they made arrangements for the creation of a post of assistant clerk for one month, designat-

Democrats Keep Control Of City's 'Pocketbook'

Appointments By Democratic President Give Them Majority on Finance, 2 Other Major Committees.

Although the Republicans took over control of city council last night, the Democratic minority retained its hold on the city's purse-strings through the appointment of two Democrats to the all-important three-member finance committee.

Howard G. Miller, president of council and a Democrat, told council last night that he had not completed his selections of committees for the next two years as yet but that he would announce them today. He did so this morning.

Miller's appointments give the two Democratic members of council, Veteran Fred Miller and "Rookie" Michael Minalick, control of the finance committee and two other committees of most importance in council.

The two Democrats were appointed to the finance, water and lights committees. Republican Veteran C. N. Shultz was appointed as the third man on the same committees. Republicans were given control of six committees, streets, sewers, salaries, claims, utilities and traffic committees. They are called the "headaches" of council committees.

The finance committee is the most important in council because it not only advises on the appropriation of funds during the next two years but also sets up the maximum appropriations for the operation of all city departments.

The Democrats will also control the appropriation of the water-works fund which has the largest surplus of any in the city, having

CAN'T BE DONE

So Nazis Say of U. S. War Armaments Program.

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Berlin radio today gave Germany its first "information" about President Roosevelt's state-of-the-union address yesterday.

The Nazi commentator, heard by NBC, called the president a few names and then assured his listeners that the increased armament program of the United States could not be carried out.

But very, carefully—very very carefully—the Nazi commentator forgot to mention that the United States this year will produce, among other things, 60,000 planes, and next year will more than double that production.

COUNCIL CUTS TRAFFIC SQUAD

Orders One Member Taken Off and Then Re-hires Collector For Parking Meters.

Mansfield's traffic squad lost one of its seven members last night and the traffic department was given a parking meter collector in return.

City council passed an amending ordinance in which they revoked their authorization last month of the appointment of two additional patrolmen and returned Lloyd L. Kochenderfer to the position of parking meter collector.

No appointments had been made under the legislation but civil service examinations to fill the two posts had been set for Jan. 16. Council's action last night will cut the appointments to one.

This is the fifth time that Kochenderfer has been appointed to this post within the last 13 months. The position has been continued in monthly and quarterly periods with council taking action upon the expiration of each appointment.

Kochenderfer served as parking meter collector from November, 1940, until August, 1941, when the

CITY SEEKING MORE REVENUE, COUNTY LESS

Appropriation Requests For Mansfield $90,000 Higher; County's $3,382 Lower.

APPROVAL DUE SHORTLY

Council Finance Committee To Look Over Funds Tonight; Commissioners To Act.

Mansfield and Richland county officials today prepared their 1942 appropriation measures for final approval of council and the county commissioners, the city asking for $90,000 more for operation costs than last year and the county reducing its 1942 figure by $3,382.

The county's request for a total of $668,357 to operate its government in 1942 was expected to receive the aproval of commissioners today without changes.

City departments, however, were not so sure they will get the $713,023 they are seeking. City council's finance committee is scheduled to meet tonight to go over the requests, and city officials pointed out that it is usually the custom for the committee to slash the requests if they exceed the probable revenue for the year.

The proposed $90,000 increase in the city appropriation includes a $34,000 parking meter fund created this year, a $16,300 boost in the street repair fund, and a similar increase in the water-works fund. The fire department asked for $5,000 more.

Despite the $3,382 drop in the county's 1942 appropriation, most of the officials at the courthouse said they planned to give their workers small pay increases. Among the officials who said they were contemplating increases in their departments were Probate Judge Stuart H Cramer, Auditor Norman L. Wolfe, and Recorder D. D. Orewiler. County commissioners and Treasurer Charles C. Payne said they gave increases to employes several months ago and did not plan any now.

Commissioners allowed the county fair board $1,000 more this year, requesting that the money must be applied to the Red Cross Has $24,894 of $30,000 War Fund Quota.

Steadily climbing towards the $30,000 quota the war emergency fund being raised by Richland county chapter of the Red Cross had reached $24,894 today as $1,625.19 was received in contributions ranging from 25 cents to gifts in three figures.

Collections submitted today by the retail division totaled $819.81; industrial division $621.50; house to house canvass, $151.60, and county donations, $32.25.

W. J. Spreng, chairman of the fund-raising committee, had notified all campaign captains and workers today that collections must be completed and turned over to the war emergency fund headquarters by Saturday without fail.

Non-Stop Bomb Attack On Fort Pushed By Japs

Hurl Fierce Offensive at MacArthur Troops; U. S. Forces Resist Coolly As Battle for Philippines Approaches Its Climax.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Corregidor, the American fortress guarding the entrance to Manila bay in the Philippines, has now been pounded for a total of 15 and one-half hours from the air by Japanese bombing planes, war department records showed today.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The war department reported today that Japan has launched a savage offensive against Gen. Douglas MacArthur's "steady and valiant" Philippines defenders and has opened a virtual non-stop air bombardment of the fortress of Corregidor.

An official U. S. army communique indicated that the Japanese attack is developing increasing momentum, but it asserted that MacArthur and his men are fighting back coolly and bravely and resisting strongly.

A brief lull in land operations—noted by the war department yesterday—appeared to be over, and it seemed likely that Japan is turning on the heat in an effort to smash MacArthur's strong defense positions in Bataan province and on the island of Corregidor.

A climax in MacArthur's stand—as gallant a battle as any American has fought since Custer—may be approaching.

The war department reported that American and Philippine troops in the mountain-studded, jungle-trewn Bataan peninsula are holding out under a continuous rain of Japanese bombers interspersed with low-flying machine-gun strafing.

Corregidor, rock-girt island which stands as a powerful bulwark against Japanese use of Manila bay, underwent another hours-long air bombardment yesterday, the war department revealed.

The extent of damage and casualties inflicted by the attack in which at least 45 Japanese bombers participated was not yet known but American anti-aircraft guns were still blasting back with a steel hail of shrapnel and shells against the rising sun attackers and were reported to have damaged additional Japanese planes.

The known toll of Japanese warplanes inflicted by Corregidor's guns already stands at 15 destroyed and probably as many more downed or badly damaged.

The war department communique—No. 49 issued since the start of hostilities just a month ago with Japan's treacherous Pearl Harbor assault — indicated that heaviest Japanese air pressure is being directed against the key points of MacArthur's positions in Bataan and Corregidor.

With the resumption of what the war department called "heavy fighting" and "increasing pressure" on the Bataan land front it seemed probable that the Japanese are attempting to soften up the strong points of MacArthur's positions in preparation for all-out assault, possibly led by parachute troops.

Corregidor holds the focus of attention. For four days Japanese planes have concentrated their bombs on its rocky sides and concrete-reinforced top. They have blasted unceasingly with forces of 50 and 60 bombers despite the

NEXT: Japan Girds Forces For Dutch East Indies Drive

(By Associated Press)

Japan's next goal is the Dutch East Indies.

This appeared evident today from a U. S. war department communique reporting that the mikado's sea-borne invasion armies in the Philippines have massed a powerful striking force at Davao bay, only 600 miles from Dutch Borneo and 400 miles from Dutch Celebes.

A Rome radio report heard in London indicated that the thrust may already have started, declaring that strong forces of Japanese parachute troops had landed on the east coast of Dutch Borneo.

Simultaneously, Dutch East Indies headquarters at Batavia reported that a formation of eight Japanese flying-boats attacked military objectives during the night on the island of Ambon (Amboina), site of a major Dutch naval base, 800 miles south of Davao.

"The enemy dropped 20 bombs and machine-gunned the island," the communique said, reporting that three civilians were killed and four persons wounded.

The bulletin also noted lively aerial reconnaissance over the far-flung archipelago—often the tipoff of an impending invasion—with the announcement that "enemy planes were observed over various parts of the outer possessions."

Tokyo imperial headquarters said Japanese troops who landed several days ago at Brunei in British North Borneo, adjoining Dutch Borneo, were "extending their field of operations." No details were given.

In smashing at Amboina, the Japanese were seeking to knock out one of the Indies bases from

Defense Stamps Their Reward for Grid Season's Work

Business Men Say Practical 'Thanks' to Band Major and Majorettes.

Mansfield Senior high school band's strutting drum major and seven drum majorettes were started on their defense savings yesterday by Paul Eliot, chairman of the Richland county defense savings committee, acting in behalf of a group of local business and professional men.

The idea developed at The News-Journal's seventh annual football banquet Monday night before this band organization performed in its liveliest style and set the diners at one table to talking about how they might show their appreciation.

It had all started in a kidding way—the dinner guests, all business men, speculating on the amount of time and effort expended by the drum mapors and majorettes in drill and actual performance without any compensation.

Someone suggested that they ought to be paid a salary, and there were other equally facetious suggestions. Finally, however, someone came up with a good one—why not get up a purse and give each of the group a start on a defense stamp book.

Presentation of two defense stamp booklets to each of the eight members of the corps was made yesterday by Paul Eliot, county defense savings committee chairman, delegated to bestow the honors.

Attired in their natty uniforms eight of the nine student bandsmen lined up in Eliot's office at the Farmers Savings and Trust company, where Eliot is secretary-treasurer, to receive their booklets. Each student received defense stamps valued at 60 cents,

TRAP: Reds Surrounding Foe In Crimea, Drive on Kharkov

(By Associated Press)

Sea-borne Russian troops, striking back into the Crimea at many points, were reported tightening a trap around Adolf Hitler's siege armies at Sevastopol today, while on the central front, retreating Nazi forces were said to have left 10,000 dead on the battlefield and yielded 572 towns in five days.

At the same time, the Germans acknowledged a heavy Soviet push in the Donets river valley of the Ukraine against the industrial city of Kharkov, Russia's "Pittsburgh."

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters asserted that Russian troops attempting to land from barges at Yevpatoriya, on the west Crimean coast 40 miles north of Sevastopol, had been wiped out "in brisk house-to-house fighting."

Countering the German version, a London radio broadcast reported that the Russians had established a beachhead, that "heavy fighting is going on along the shore" at Yevpatoriya, and that German forces were moving north from Sevastopol to combat the threat at their rear.

In the Ukraine, Hitler's headquarters admitted that the Soviet counter-offensive had breached German lines northeast of Kharkov, but declared that German troops counter-attacked and succeeded in straightening out the front.

Meanwhile, diplomatic quarters in Turkey said general mobilization was under way in Rumania and Hungary, with the Germans

STOCK MARKET CONTINUES TO DISPLAY GAINS

Westinghouse In Group of Select Issues Showing Climbing Ability.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Selective gains were spread over today's stock market although many leaders continued to lack much support.

Plus marks were pinned on American Telephone, Electric Auto-Lite, Texas Co., Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Goodyear, Goodrich, American Smelting, Westinghouse, American Can, Allied Chemical and Consolidated Edison.

Backward at times were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, General Electric and Sears Roebuck.

Market students saw further evidence of increasing industrial momentum in the American Telephone statement disclosing a net upturn of about 1,361,000 telephones in service in the Bell system during 1941. It was the widest jump on record and put total stations at around 18,840,000, also a new peak.

GERMAN SIEGE LINES BROKEN AT SEVASTOPOL

Nazis Admit Russian Troops Crack Their Main Line Before Moscow.

Russian troops which landed at Feodosiya, in the eastern Crimea, had reached the Sea of Azov, cutting off the entire Kerch peninsula.

Izvestia's correspondent said the Germans tried to shift part of their Sevastopol forces to stem the Russian onslaught on the Kerch peninsula, only to meet a deadly hail of shells from Soviet warships and coastal artillery and bombs from Russian naval aircraft.

On the central front, the lengthening arm of the Soviet counter-offensive was reported sweeping the Germans back upon Kursk, 280 miles below Moscow and about 100 miles south of Orel.

Soviet dispatches said that Red army troops who routed the Germans from Tim, 40 miles east of Kursk, were advancing rapidly.

"The Germans did everything to retain this line," the Russians said. "A unit commanded by Dobrovolsky outflanked the Fascists and penetrated their rear."

On the Leningrad front, the Russians painted an equally brightening picture, declaring that Red army troops backed by American-made fighter planes had recaptured 300 square miles of territory and 30 villages in five days after crushing a German offensive.

The Berlin radio, admitting that the Russians had cracked the main German line on the central (Moscow) front, said heavy losses had been inflicted on the Soviet forces and that German troops had recaptured the lost ground.

Russian troops were reported exerting fierce pressure on the German stronghold at Mozhaisk, striking from a 160-mile encirclement arc with spearheads at Staritsa, on the upper Volga 125 miles northwest of Moscow, and Kozelsk, 140 miles to the southwest.

On the North African front, slashing rainstorms slowed operations, but British Middle East headquarters reported that British imperial troops were "successfully active" in attacking German-Italian forces around Agedabia, 90 miles south of Bengasi.

Undisclosed numbers of Axis prisoners continued to flow back to prison camps in Egypt as British forces mopped up isolated German and Italian centers of resistance around Salum, on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier.

Premier Mussolini's high command said violent artillery duels raged all day yesterday in the Salum area as well as the Agedabia sector, 300 miles to the west, and reported that Axis planes hammered British troop concentrations.

Dr. Otto Dietrich, Nazi press chief, told Germans meanwhile in an article published in all German newspapers that Hitler had remained steadily at his headquarters in eastern Europe since the Russian war started June 22, without leaving for more than one-day trips.

German authorities in Paris reported two more bombings there in addition to that which caused the fixing of a partial 5 p. m. curfew during the week-end. One of the explosions happened in a German bookshop in the Champs Elysees district and the other in a German soldiers' club, the authorities said.

Free French in the recently seized French colony of St. Pierre-et-Miquelon announced they had no intention of evacuating the islands they seized a week ago, to the embarrassment of the United States state department, which said an agreement neutralizing French Atlantic possessions was violated.

Seizure by the United States of the Panamanian vessel Marconi, at first believed Itali, appeared cleared up with an announcement that Panama Canal Zone judicial authorities had dropped action to declare her a prize of war.

War Keeps Hitler At Russian Front

BERLIN — (Official Broadcast Recorded by AP)—Gigantic war tasks have kept Adolf Hitler steadily at his headquarters in eastern Europe except for occasional one-day trips since the German-Russian campaign started June 22, Dr. Otto Dietrich said today in urging upon Germany "complete trust in victory."

The Nazi press chief declared in an article published in all German newspapers that "for six months, that is, since the beginning of the eastern campaign, the fuehrer has been staying in his headquarters in eastern Europe, devoting his life entirely to solution of gigantic tasks confronting the German nation in connection with necessities of the war."

(British dispatches Jan. 1 said that Hitler, who supplanted Field Marshal Gen. Walther von Brauchitsch as the German commander in chief Dec. 19 in response to "an inner call," had flown to Smolensk from Kiev in an attempt to stiffen his central lines.

(About a half dozen German generals were reported in London yesterday to have gone the way of von Brauchitsch for military reverses or criticism of the conduct of the war.)

RAF Raids German Sub Base in Greece

CAIRO, Egypt—(AP)—An RAF raid on the German submarine base at Salamis, Greek port west of Athens, was reported by the RAF Middle East command today for the second successive day.

The Greek peninsula is directly across a narrow neck of the Mediterranean from the hump of Libya and, therefore, in a strategic position for German U-boats menacing British ships supplying the armies pushing westward in north Africa.

Fascists Alarmed By Trouble at Home

LONDON — (INS) — Reuters (British) news agency today quoted a Tass (Russian) report from Istanbul which said Italian Fascist party chiefs are "deeply alarmed over the growth of anti-Fascist sentiments in Italy."

According to this report black shirts and the Fascist militia have been instructed to intensify their reprisals against "discontented elements."

Party leaders were declared to be demanding that Premier Mussolini transfer further Italian units from the Balkans to Italy to cope with the possibility of "internal complications."

Brent And 'Oomph Girl' Wed

PALM BEACH, Fla.— Ann Sheridan, the movies' red-haired "oomph girl," and Actor George Brent, who, as late as Saturday, said she was just a "good friend," were married here last night by Judge Richard P. Robbins. The wedding was expected, but unheralded. The principals arrived by plane yesterday from Hollywood, and the ceremony was held at the home of Mrs. Sam H. Harris, widow of the Broadway producer.

Miss Sheridan was married once before, in the days before her "oomph" had been recognized by the motion pictures. Brent, 38, a native of Ireland, and an American citizen since 1937, was married twice previously. His first wife was actress Ruth Chatterton. Later, he and Australian actress Constance Worth were secretly married at Ensenada, but he had it annuled.

FDR Asks Nine Billions In New Taxes

WAR BUDGET SKYROCKETS FEDERAL DEBT

Figure Will Rise To Record $110,000,000,000, Chief Executive Declares.

HIGHEST OF ALL TIME

Calls For Increase In War Spending Per Month To $5,000,000,000.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Bespeaking the nation's determination to "pay whatever price we must to preserve our way of life." President Roosevelt called today for a war budget of $56,000,000,000 for the next fiscal year, $9,000,000,000 of new taxes on top of all existing taxes, and unprecedented borrowing that would send the federal debt above $110,000,000,000.

"This is a war budget," he said in his annual budget message to congress. "Its magniture and composition depend on events at the battlefronts of the world. x x x nothing short of a maximum will suffice. I cannot predict ultimate costs because I cannot predict the changing fortunes of war. I can say only that we are determined to pay whatever price we must to preserve our way of life."

He added at a press conference that it was the biggest budget in the history of the world. It called, the president said, for a step-up in the rate of war spending from the current $2,000,000,000 a month to $5,000,000,000 a month.

To the public he said that it meant heavy new taxes because "a fair distribution of the war burden is necessary for national unity."

It also meant, he declared, that the people would have to do without "many conveniences and luxuries" so that the nation may "shift labor, materials and facilities from the production of civilian articles to the production of weapons and other war supplies."

Technically, the budget con-

Mercury Plunges Below Zero for Third Day In Row

Mansfielders today saw the mercury drop to four below zero for the third consecutive day of below-zero readings as the winter's worst cold wave continued to grip Ohio and most of the middle west.

There is no relief in sight for at least another day, according to the weatherman, who predicted continued cold tonight with maybe a little more snow to add to the discomfort of shivering Ohioans.

The weather "warmed up" to 9 above in Mansfield yesterday afternoon, but a brisk wind that blew the cold through houses made them harder to heat than they were Monday when the temperature was lower. Snow fell late last night to form a slippery coating over the streets in the city.

Yesterday's average reading was 7.5 degrees as compared with the normal 30.5 for the date. The reading was only slightly above zero at noon today.

Duluth, Minn., reported 26 below zero this morning, the lowest in the nation.

Apartments Rent Quickly!

There is no reason why anyone should have a vacant apartment. Mrs. Joseph Haupt, 224 West Third St., reports that her ad in The News-Journal brought over 12 calls the first night it was published. This shows that many people are looking for a suitable apartment in which to live this winter.

A vacancy costs you much money—a want ad to rent the vacancy costs very little. Dial 4251-6 now . . . an experienced ad taker will help you write your ad.

Takes Action On Protest In Train Noise

Council Refers Bowman Residents' Pleas for Enforcement.

Pleas of scores of residents in the Bowman street area complaining of excessive bell ringing and whistle blowing by railroad trains were referred to the service-safety department by city council last night.

Council President Howard G. Miller, calling attention to the fact that the communication was an enforcement matter rather than a legislative one ruled it should be sent to service-safety department for enforcement of ordinances already covering the subject.

The ruling places the matter where residents said their earlier complaints brought no action. The communication sent council by B. Louise Atkins, 321 Bowman street, said earlier complaints to Mayor William J. Locke had not brought any results in curbing the disturbance. The mayor replied, the communication said, that he hoped a viaduct could be built there to solve the problem. Railroad officials have said that they are required to give signals at crossings.

The letter said it represented the protests of more than 100 residents of the Bowman street area. It called attention to ordinances already on the city's legislative books which gives measures to punish persons violating the ordinance.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton, to whom the complaint was referred, said that he would start an investigation of the matter.

"This is the first official notice I have had of the disturbance," said Crafton. "I will investigate the matter carefully to learn if anything can be done to relieve the situation."

GETS PEN TERM

Ex-Detroit Mayor Sentenced on Conspiracy Charge.

DETROIT —(INS)— Former Mayor Richard W. Reading today was sentenced to from four to five years in Jackson prison by Circuit Court Judge Earl G. Pugsley on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice in the operations of a $10,000,000 policy and numbers game.

Also sentenced with reading were 14 suspended policemen and 10 alleged gamblers, including John Roxborough, co-manager of Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis.

Roxborough was sentenced to two and one half to five years in prison.

Council Appoints New Clerk At Tension-Packed Initial Session

Black Named To Job Held By Beer Who Then Walks Out

By WILLIAM F. MURRAY

Mansfield's new Republican-controlled city council swung into action last night and, in accordance with a more or less political custom, it discharged a Democratic council clerk and hired a Republican, at a tension-gripped meeting in which it found itself without the services of a clerk for more than a half hour.

Selection of a clerk was among the first items of business taken up by the new council which is made up of seven Republicans and two Democrats, along with a Democratic president. It took the place of a council made up of six Democrats and three Republicans.

The councilmen appointed R. R. Black, jr., 427 Glessner avenue, salesman in radio and electrical appliances, to take the place of William J. Beer, jr., who has been clerk for 13 years. Beer was replaced by a six to three secret ballot.

Surprise of the meeting came when announcement of Black's election was made. President Howard Miller read results of the vote. There was a moment of almost complete silence which was broken when Beer rose from his chair, put on his hat and coat and walked out the door. He turned slightly toward council and said: "Well, I'm just Citizen Beer now."

Beer expressed surprise at his replacement, saying later that as late as yesterday afternoon at least two Republican members had assured him that he had five council votes which would give him re-election.

R. R. Black, jr., newly appointed council clerk, begins his new job today, learning the "ropes" from his predecessor, William J. Beer (seated) who will remain as assistant clerk for another month.

Beer's exit brought on several minutes of confusion in the council chamber. A clerk was needed, newly-elected Black was not present and the confusion lasted until the councilmen appointed City Auditor Paul L. Kelley as acting clerk.

Next they made arrangements for the creation of a post of assistant clerk for one month, designat-

Democrats Keep Control Of City's 'Pocketbook'

Appointments By Democratic President Give Them Majority on Finance, 2 Other Major Committees.

Although the Republicans took over control of city council last night, the Democratic minority retained its hold on the city's purse-strings through the appointment of two Democrats to the all-important three-member finance committee.

Howard G. Miller, president of council and a Democrat, told council last night that he had not completed his selections of committees for the next two years as yet but that he would announce them today. He did so this morning.

Miller's appointments give the two Democratic members of council, Veteran Fred Miller and "Rookie" Michael Mihalick, control of the finance committee and two other committees of most importance in council.

The two Democrats were appointed to the finance, water and lights committees. Republican Veteran C. N. Shultz was appointed as the third man on the same committees. Republicans were given control of six committees, streets, sewers, salaries, claims, utilities and traffic committees. They are called the "headaches" of council committees.

The finance committee is the most important in council because it not only advises on the appropriation of funds during the next two years but also sets up the maximum appropriations for the operation of all city departments.

The Democrats will also control the appropriation of the waterworks fund which has the largest surplus of any in the city, having

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Berlin radio today gave Germany its first "information" about President Roosevelt's state-of-the-union address yesterday.

The Nazi commentator, heard by NBC, called the president a few names and then assured his listeners that the increased armament program of the United States could not be carried out.

But very, carefully—very very carefully—the Nazi commentator forgot to mention that the United States this year will produce, among other things, 60,000 planes, and next year will more than double that production.

COUNCIL CUTS TRAFFIC SQUAD

Orders One Member Taken Off and Then Re-hires Collector For Parking Meters.

Mansfield's traffic squad lost one of its seven members last night and the traffic department was given a parking meter collector in return.

City council passed an amending ordinance in which they revoked their authorization last month of the appointment of two additional patrolmen and returned Lloyd L. Kochenderfer to the position of parking meter collector.

No appointments had been made under the legislation but civil service examinations to fill the two posts had been set for Jan. 16. Council's action last night will cut the appointments to one.

This is the fifth time that Kochenderfer has been appointed to this post within the last 13 months. The position has been continued in monthly and quarterly periods with council taking action upon the expiration of each appointment.

Kochenderfer served as parking meter collector from November, 1940, until August, 1941, when the

CITY SEEKING MORE REVENUE, COUNTY LESS

Appropriation Requests For Mansfield $90,000 Higher; County's $3,382 Lower.

APPROVAL DUE SHORTLY

Council Finance Committee To Look Over Funds Tonight; Commissioners To Act.

Mansfield and Richland county officials today prepared their 1942 appropriation measures for final approval of council and the county commissioners, the city asking for $90,000 more for operation costs than last year and the county reducing its 1942 figure by $3,382.

The county's request for a total of $668,357 to operate its government in 1942 was expected to receive the aproval of commissioners today without changes.

City departments, however, were not so sure they will get the $713,023 they are seeking. City council's finance committee is scheduled to meet tonight to go over the requests, and city officials pointed out that it is usually the custom for the committee to slash the requests if they exceed the probable revenue for the year.

The proposed $90,000 increase in the city appropriation includes a $34,000 parking meter fund created this year, a $16,300 boost in the street repair fund, and a similar increase in the waterworks fund. The fire department asked for $5,000 more.

Despite the $3,382 drop in the county's 1942 appropriation, most of the officials at the courthouse said they planned to give their workers small pay increases. Among the officials who said they were contemplating increases in their departments were Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer, Auditor Norman L. Wolfe, and Recorder D. D. Orewiler. County commissioners and Treasurer Charles C. Payne said they gave increases to employes several months ago and did not plan any now.

Commissioners allowed the county fair board $1,000 more this year, requesting that the money must be applied to the Red Cross Has $24,894 of $30,000 War Fund Quota.

Steadily climbing towards the $30,000 quota the war emergency fund being raised by Richland county chapter of the Red Cross had reached $24,894 today as $1,625.19 was received in contributions ranging from 25 cents to gifts in three figures.

Collections submitted today by the retail division totaled $819.84; industrial division $621.50; house to house canvass, $151.60, and county donations, $32.25.

W. J. Spreng, chairman of the fund-raising committee, had notified all campaign captains and workers today that collections must be completed and turned over to the war emergency fund headquarters by Saturday without fail.

Non-Stop Bomb Attack On Fort Pushed By Japs

Hurl Fierce Offensive at MacArthur Troops; U. S. Forces Resist Coolly As Battle for Philippines Approaches Its Climax.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Corregidor, the American fortress guarding the entrance to Manila bay in the Philippines, has now been pounded for a total of 15 and one-half hours from the air by Japanese bombing planes, war department records showed today.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The war department reported today that Japan has launched a savage offensive against Gen. Douglas MacArthur's "steady and valiant" Philippines defenders and has opened a virtual non-stop air bombardment of the fortress of Corregidor.

An official U. S. army communique indicated that the Japanese attack is developing increasing momentum, but it asserted that MacArthur and his men are fighting back coolly and bravely and resisting strongly.

A brief lull in land operations—noted by the war department yesterday—appeared to be over, and it seemed likely that Japan is turning on the heat in an effort to smash MacArthur's strong defense positions in Bataan province and on the island of Corregidor.

A climax in MacArthur's stand—as gallant a battle as any American has fought since Custer—may be approaching.

The war department reported that American and Philippine troops in the mountain-studded, jungle-trewn Bataan peninsula are holding out under a continuous rain of Japanese bombers interspersed with low-flying machine-gun strafing.

Corregidor, rock-girt island which stands as a powerful bulwark against Japanese use of Manila bay, underwent another hours-long air bombardment yesterday, the war department revealed.

The extent of damage and casualties inflicted by the attack in which at least 45 Japanese bombers participated was not yet known but American anti-aircraft guns were still blasting back with a steel hail of shrapnel and shells against the rising sun attackers and were reported to have damaged additional Japanese planes.

The known toll of Japanese warplanes inflicted by Corregidor's guns already stands at 15 destroyed and probably as many more downed or badly damaged.

The war department communique—No. 49 issued since the start of hostilities just a month ago with Japan's treacherous Pearl Harbor assault — indicated that heavi st Japanese air pressure is being directed against the key points of MacArthur's positions in Bataan and Corregidor.

With the resumption of what the war department called "heavy fighting" and "increasing pressure" on the Bataan land front it seemed probable that the Japanese are attempting to soften up the strong points of MacArthur's positions in preparation for all-out assault, possibly led by parachute troops.

Corregidor holds the focus of attention. For four days Japanese planes have concentrated their bombs on its rocky sides and concrete-reinforced top. They have blasted unceasingly with forces of 50 and 60 bombers despite the

NEXT: Japan Girds Forces For Dutch East Indies Drive

(By Associated Press)

Japan's next goal is the Dutch East Indies.

This appeared evident today from a U. S. war department communique reporting that the mikado's sea-borne invasion armies in the Philippines have massed a powerful striking force at Davao bay, only 600 miles from Dutch Borneo and 400 miles from Dutch Celebes.

A Rome radio report heard in London indicated that the thrust may already have started, declaring that strong forces of Japanese parachute troops had landed on the east coast of Dutch Borneo.

Simultaneously, Dutch East Indies headquarters at Batavia reported that a formation of eight Japanese flying-boats attacked military objectives during the night on the island of Ambon (Amboina), site of a major Dutch naval base, 800 miles south of Davao.

"The enemy dropped 20 bombs and machine-gunned the island," the communique said, reporting that three civilians were killed and four persons wounded.

The bulletin also noted lively aerial reconnaissance over the far-flung archipelago—often the tipoff of an impending invasion—with the announcement that "enemy planes were observed over various parts of the outer possessions."

Tokyo imperial headquarters said Japanese troops who landed several days ago at Brunei in British North Borneo, adjoining Dutch Borneo, were "extending their field of operations." No details were given.

In smashing at Amboina, the Japanese were seeking to knock out one of the Indies bases from

Defense Stamps Their Reward for Grid Season's Work

Business Men Say Practical 'Thanks' to Band Major and Majorettes.

Mansfield Senior high school band's strutting drum major and seven drum majorettes were started on their defense savings yesterday by Paul Eliot, chairman of the Richland county defense savings committee, acting in behalf of a group of local business and professional men.

The idea developed at The News-Journal's seventh annual football banquet Monday night before this band organization performed in its liveliest style and set the diners at one table to talking about how they might show their appreciation.

It had all started in a kidding way—the dinner guests, all business men, speculating on the amount of time and effort expended by the drum mapors and majorettes in drill and actual performance without any compensation.

Someone suggested that they ought to be paid a salary, and there were other equally facetious suggestions. Finally, however, someone came up with a good one—why not get up a purse and give each of the group a start on a defense stamp book.

Presentation of two defense stamp booklets to each of the eight members of the corps was made yesterday by Paul Eliot, county defense savings committee chairman, delegated to bestow the honors.

Attired in their natty uniforms eight of the nine student bandsmen lined up in Eliot's office at the Farmers Savings and Trust company, where Eliot is secretary-treasurer, to receive their booklets. Each student received defense stamps valued at 60 cents,

TRAP: Reds Surrounding Foe In Crimea, Drive on Kharkov

(By Associated Press)

Sea-borne Russian troops, striking back into the Crimea at many points, were reported tightening a trap around Adolf Hitler's siege armies at Sevastopol today, while on the central front, retreating Nazi forces were said to have left 10,000 dead on the battlefield and yielded 572 towns in five days.

At the same time, the Germans acknowledged a heavy Soviet push in the Donets river valley of the Ukraine against the industrial city of Kharkov, Russia's "Pittsburgh."

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters asserted that Russian troops attempting to land from barges at Yevpatoriya, on the west Crimean coast 40 miles north of Sevastopol, had been wiped out "in brisk house-to-house fighting."

Countering the German version, a London radio broadcast reported that the Russians had established a beachhead, that "heavy fighting is going on along the shore" at Yevpatoriya and that German forces were moving north from Sevastopol to combat the threat at their rear.

In the Ukraine, Hitler's headquarters admitted that the Soviet counter-offensive had breached German lines northeast of Kharkov, but declared that German troops counter-attacked and succeeded in straightening out the front.

Meanwhile, diplomatic quarters in Turkey said general mobilization was under way in Rumania and Hungary, with the Germans

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—As was remarked in this space recently there is a tremendous struggle going on behind the scenes over who shall control our war production effort.

Gen. Johnson.

Industry as such never did control it. It is true that there are industrialists in OPM. But even a Knudsen is covered by a Hillman and the most influential people on the top side are not "industrialists." In fact, in the strict sense, I don't know of any important industrialist there.

Mostly, they are labor leaders and the type of young economist that has helped to shape most of the theories and practices of the later New Deals.

Together, if outward and visible signs mean anything, these groups seem to have their own men at all key points and pretty generally purge all important industrialists from the picture.

The technique is to say that we are lagging in war production, that this lag is largely due to the reluctance and failure of the automobile industry to close down all automobile plants and to put them on war work. The accusers claim to have "had the imagination" to do this last year and say they produced the Reuther plan to do it but industry did not heed.

This charge is being made in Washington papers. Moreover, it is being directly or indirectly made by three or four leading columnists who are very sympathetic with them.

They say openly "Knudsen must go". Can you split a Siamese twin? They don't say Hillman must go. Hillman is supposed to be one man with Knudsen. Certainly he has had co-equal authority.

It is true that Knudsen was miscast. This column recommended many years ago that he be brought in to overhaul old army production plans as a super-expert mechanic—a genius at shop production. It did not recommend him as an industrial czar. He is no more equipped for the job than Hillman.

But these errors can't be charged to industry, nor to Knudsen or Hillman. These men serve where and as they were told to serve. Neither are these errors and many others, which have created a great unwieldy contraption of contradictions and confusion, to be charged to industry. Neither can the lag in production behind appropriations be charged to industry. All the errors mentioned in this paragraph are to be charged to government itself. It had no supply program. To the extent that the young architects of recent governmental changes planned this effort it is they, and not industry, who are at fault.

Doubtless industry has also much to answer for but failure to adopt the Reuther plan is by no means proved to be even a contributing cause to the present lag and delay. In many ways it is impracticable and its adoption would be ruinous. I believe industry has been ready and is ready now to do whatever government asks it to do.

But no manufacturer can start making planes and tanks and ships and guns until the government tells him exactly what it wants and when and how and where. The government has been slow in this regard.

Some of these gentlemen want to oust the army and navy and maritime commission from the procurement program. They too, it seems, are scapegoats.

This is fantastic. This war is an army war, a navy war, a shipping war and above all an industrial war. So we oust the life-trained specialists in these fields and install some economists. Even the suggestion is almost incredible.

There are harsher things to be said than this. First: any group that uses this war to advance its private aims regardless of national aims is no fit partner in our united effort. Second: This is no time for fault-finding and shin-kicking. It is a time to forget the last and look with increased determination and vigor to the future.

Senate Tackles Price Control Measure

COUNTY GRAND JURY RETURNS 19 INDICTMENTS

Four Held Sub Rosa While Officers Hunt Persons Named In Them.

Nineteen indictments were returned late yesterday by the Richland county grand jury after the jurors investigated 22 cases in a one-day session.

Four of the 19 indictments were held secret by Prosecutor Harold Lutz because the persons named in them have not been apprehended. Arraignment of the defendants was set for 1:15 p. m. Friday by C. A. McKinley, court assignment clerk.

Among the indictments were charges of assault to rob against Robert R. Phillips and assault with intent to rape against John McLaughlin, Mansfielders.

Phillips is accused of tearing a wrist watch from the arm of Miss Clarabelle Harrer of Crestline, in Mansfield the night of Dec. 22 as she walked along North Mulberry street at Library court. She chased her accoster and recovered the watch.

McLaughlin is accused of striking a 20-year-old girl in the head with a hammer last fall as she slept in a car parked near the home of a relative near the city. She told authorities she was stunned by the blow and that McLaughlin attempted to assault her.

Salvatore Anasfasi was indicted on a charge of embezzling $1,600 from the Southern Produce company. Others named in indictments were:

Harry Rosser, Samuel Rose, Melvin Brown, Walter L. Nixon, Ray Poling and Cisco Howard, all accused of operating motor vehicles without the owner's consent; Clarence Rosser and George Williams, breaking and entering; Fred H. Simmons, Jacob Hriesik, John Shoffstall and William Kuntz, non-support.

The jurors examined 40 witnesses during the session. Charles Old was foreman. The session completed the work of the September term jury. A new one will serve during the next court term which opens this month.

INDUSTRY AND FARM BLOCS DEBATE ISSUE

Bill Provokes First Major Fight In New Session of Congress.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The senate begins debate today on a bill designed to control an inflationary price trend estimated to have cost the nation about $2,000,000,000 in the last 18 months.

The price control measure, strengthened by the senate banking and currency committee since the house approved it prior to the outbreak of war for the United States, provokes the first major legislative battle of the new session — a fight in which farm and industrial senators are on opposite sides.

The main controversy is on a proposal by the senate farm bloc to write into the bill a provision Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard authority to veto price ceilings on farm commodities fixes by Price Administrator Leon Henderson. Yesterday 27 farm state senators agreed at an informal meeting to support an amendment by Sen. John H. Bankhead, D., Ala., to accomplish this. They claimed a total of 42 votes.

Another major fight is expected on a proposal by Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., to put price control in charge of a five-man board instead of a single administrator.

There is strong support from the members of both major parties for price control legislation, although neither claims that the pending bill will prevent inflation completely.

"I think that if the administration can hold price increases down to 10 per cent a year it will be doing a very good job. Even limiting them to 15 per cent would be something," Taft said.

The farm bloc's fight to give Wickard veto power over farm prices comes on top of a successful effort to provide a floor of 110 per cent of parity for agricultural products, below which Henderson would not be permitted to go in fixing prices. Another provision would prevent him from fixing a price below the market level of Oct. 1, 1941, if that happened to be higher.

EX-KING HEADS 'FREE RUMANIA'

Carol Comes To U. S. Shortly To Assume Post; London Criticizes Action.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK — Former King Carol of Rumania has accepted leadership of the Free Rumania committee for the triumph of democracy, Leon Fischer, president of the committee with headquarters in New York, said today.

Fischer said he had received a telegram to that effect from Carol, now in Mexico City. Fischer added: "His majesty plans to be in the United States shortly, probably about Jan. 15 or 20."

"After several months of deliberation," Fischer said, 'Carol has accepted the leadership of the Free Rumanian forces. The former king was faced with more than a distressing problem. On the one hand there was his son Michael acting head of the present kingdom, and on the other hand the true welfare of the Rumanian people. It was a dilemma that few men are called to face. If, as a man he is called to sacrifice his son for the greater good of his people, then he, as king, must answer the call of duty and right and fight for the survival of his people as a free nation."

LONDON—Under the headline, "Chuck it, Carol," the London Evening Standard today published an editorial scathingly attacking Former King Carol's assumption of leadership of Free Rumanians.

"It is a pity he never displayed the same defiance in Bucharest," the Standard commented.

Evacuee Arrivals Show U. S. Clears Decks for Action

SAN FRANCISCO —(INS)— Arrival of three groups of evacuees at west coast ports gave evidence today that America is clearing her decks for action at her Pacific bastions.

Contingents from Hawaii, consisting largely of families of army and navy men, arrived at San Francisco and San Diego. The number of arrivals was kept a navy secret.

Staunch pride in the iron courage of their menfolk was evident in the manner of all of the army and navy wives who went through the Jap attack and now have been forced to leave their husbands at the mercies of the fates of war.

Most indignant arrival was Mrs. J. R. Sawyer, of Chicago, wife of an army airman. Mrs. Sawyer was in a hospital after giving birth to Sheron Sawyer, now five weeks old, when the Mikado's airmen struck.

"The Japs deliberately and repeatedly machine-gunned that hospital," Mrs. Sawyer declared.

150 FLEE FIRE

Damage $100,000 In Apartment Fire In Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— Forcing more than 150 persons into the street in freezing weather, a general alarm fire today destroyed the three-story Gotshall apartments in adjacent Darby with an estimated loss of $100,000.

Twenty firemen were overcome by smoke and William Lafferty, 28, was critically injured when he fell three stories from a ladder while attempting a rescue.

COURT DISMISSES MOTION TO SET ASIDE REAL ESTATE SALE

By order of Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston, a motion filed in common pleas court last week asking that a sheriff's sale of 9.73 acres of land in Springfield township be set aside was stricken from the files today.

The court approved a motion to that effect filed by Attorney Joseph A. Bayer, acting for C. E. Moore, plaintiff in the action to sell the land in question.

The court agreed with Bayer's claim that persons who were not involved in the transaction had been named in the move to invalidate the sale.

The original motion to set aside the sale was filed by Attorney Marshall Moore, representing O. F. Kime, Shelby lumber dealer, who had filed a claim against the property.

Bayer maintained that Kime was not a party to the case, that the motion contained "improper and scurrilous matter" and that the form of the motion did not comply with the law and that its filing was irregular.

Moore's attempt to set aside the sale of the land had alleged that there was "reason to believe" there was collusion between the attorney for the plaintiff and another bidder.

Bayer, attorney for C. E. Moore, purchased the property for $1,450, which was $444 more than the amount of the principal mortgage on the land, held by the Mansfield Building and Loan association.

TRY IT AGAIN

Officials Renew Efforts To Split State Surplus.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — State and county government representatives renewed their pressure today upon Governor Bricker to have him call a special session of the legislature to distribute part of the state treasury surplus to local governments.

A committee of 15 local officials, headed by Mayor Floyd Green of Columbus, a Republican, and Mayor Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland, a Democrat, meet with the governor today.

The state surplus at present is variously estimated upwards from $11,500,000, the calculation used by the Bricker administration. Seekers of a distribution claim the excess is considerably more than the governor's estimate. Some declare it to be as high as $22,000,000.

Despite the presentation of the resolution drawn up by city officials last month, Bricker is almost certain to reject the demands once more.

GETS 20 DAYS

Newark Men Plead Guilty to Larceny Charges.

Two Newark men were sentenced to 20 days in the Richland county jail each yesterday after pleading guilty in municipal court to petit larceny charges.

W. S. Hagerman, manager of the Hagerman Coal company, rear 300 North Diamond street, charged that Ray Livingston and Thomas F. Moran, both of Newark, had been stealing coal from the company coal yard.

ARMY REJECTS JACK DEMPSEY

But Ex-Champ Says He Still Wants to Do His Bit.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Rejected by the army because of his age, Jack Dempsey, 46-year-old former world heavyweight champion, today still wanted to do his bit for the United States at war.

Dempsey appeared at the army recruiting headquarters yesterday, with the object of conducting a mass physical training program at army camps. He passed the physical examination, and then unsuccessfully sought waivers on his age.

Col. John F. Daye, recruiting officer, asserted that Dempsey could not be enlisted unless congress passed legislation raising the age limit about 35 years.

MACHINIST DIES

John E. Stors Was Humphryes Employe 45 Years.

John E. Stors, 61, a machinist for the Humphryes Manufacturing company for 45 years, died this morning at his home, 239 East First street, after an illness of several weeks.

Born Oct. 2, 1880, in Mansfield, he spent his entire life here, and was an employe of the Humphryes company at the time of his death.

Surviving are his widow, Mary; one daughter, Mrs. Curtis Shaffer, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Charles Stutz, of Mansfield, and Mrs. Michael Wagner of California; and one brother, George, of California.

The body was taken to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Friday at 3 p. m. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

SELLS TICKETS DUE TO PICKETS

First Lady Says, Fair or Not, She Won't Cross Union Line.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, today explained her refusal to cross a union picket line last night to attend a performance of the play "In Time to Come."

"Fair, or not fair, I cannot cross a picket line," the wife of the president said.

The first lady, accompanied by two friends, declined to enter the Mansfield theater when she noted the pickets who were members of Local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians. The admission price of $9.90 was returned to her escort by the theater management.

It Looked Like Sabotage But It Was Accidental

LOUDONVILLE—It looked like sabotage, but it turned out just to be an accident, and its discovery early Tuesday prevented what might have been a major wreck on the Pennsylvania lines.

Ezra Hoyer, employed by the Flxible company here, went to work at 4 a. m. yesterday. As he crossed the Pennsylvania tracks, he noted planks and an iron bar across the main line tracks.

Hoyer immediately notified Marshal R. G. Schnittke, who called Elbert Mack, section boss for the railroad.

With several of the line's crack trains due to pass through Loudonville within a half hour, men worked feverishly to clear the tracks and got the debris removed just in time.

Railroaders who investigated said it wasn't a plot to wreck the trains—that a bar had dropped off a passing train and had ripped up crossing planks leaving them strewn over the rails.

VOLUNTEERS TO END TRAINING

Red Cross Group Will Attend Final Classes Next Week.

The Red Cross staff assistants' class of some 20 women, volunteering for clerical or other service at executive headquarters, will complete its training next week starting Monday at 9 a. m.

Miss Lenore Van Gundia, executive secretary, announced today that the class will meet Monday and Tuesday to complete the course. They obtained practical experience recently when the members served as cashiers at a local restaurant donating all receipts to the war emergency fund.

JAPAN OPENS SAVAGE DRIVE ON CORREGIDOR

Hurls Fierce Offensive Against U. S. Land Troops In Climactic Fight.

blazing fire of anti-aircraft guns which have taken a known toll of 15 Japanese planes and possibly a dozen others.

In this incessant Japanese air attack there appeared to be a clue to Japan's strategic intentions.

So long as Corregidor stands, Japan's gains in the Philippines, won at a heavy cost of men and material, are of little value. There has been no belief in U. S. military circles that MacArthur can prolong his heroic stand indefinitely.

But each day's battle is estimated as worth the equivalent of a dozen or more divisions to the British, hard-pressed in the increasingly critical battle for Singapore.

So long as MacArthur holds out the 200,000 to 250,000 Japanese troops in the Philippines cannot be shifted to the attack on Singapore. And so long as MacArthur holds Bataan province and Corregidor the Japanese are denied use of the second best base in the southwest Pacific—Manila—to reinforce their encirclement of Singapore.

MacArthur was far too busy matching blows and wits with the Japanese to transmit detailed reports of his epic stand to the American public. But from the spare words of the U. S. war communiques and the admissions of the Tokyo propaganda broadcasts some facets of the MacArthur saga emerged.

Deny Japan's Claim U. S. Ship Sunk

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The navy department today flatly and emphatically denied reports that a naval engagement had been fought between Japanese and American warships in the southeast Pacific with loss of one U. S. battleship.

A report to this effect was broadcast today by the German-controlled Dutch radio station at Hilversun, according to the London Evening Standard. The Nazis claimed that the battleships U. S. S. New Mexico and U. S. S. Mississippi were involved and one of them destroyed.

A navy department spokesman in Washington said that the "report is completely untrue."

REDUCE SERVICE

SHELBY — Shelby grocers will start a twice-daily delivery service next Monday. Three deliveries had been sent out from the stores before.

The cut in service was made because of the tire rationing program which may curtail the service more later, Retail Grocer association officials disclosed.

trying to muster all possible manpower to check the retreat in Russia.

Soviet informants said Russia expected to drive the invaders behind the Leningrad-Smolensk-Dnieper river line—more than 200 miles west of Moscow—around Feb. 1, "turning the Nazi retreat into a military catastrophe in the bitterest part of the winter."

Advices reaching London said the pace of the Russian counter-sweep was increasing as reinforcements poured steadily into Red army lines.

The British radio said Russian troops had crossed the upper Donets—perhaps in the region of Kharkov, which lies 250 miles northeast of Taganrog.

Charge Nazis Use Atrocity 'System'

MOSCOW—(INS)—Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov charged today that the Nazis are conducting an "organized system of robberies, destruction and mass murders" in German-occupied sections of Russia.

An official announcement Molotov delivered to all foreign legations and embassies in Russia stated:

"There have been thousands of casse of robbery against industrial undertakings. Whole quarters of such cities as Novgorod, Kharkov, Rostov, and Kalinin have been wrecked. Towns like Istra, Klin and Rogachev are masses of ruins."

Declaring the Nazi "atrocities" had been "brought to light" by recapture of cities and towns, Molotov added:

"This violence does not spring from undisciplined enemy troops or from individual men, but is an organized system worked out beforehand which encourages officers and men to commit the most bestial acts."

Claims Army Upset Ruins Discipline

NEW YORK—(INS)—A British broadcast picked up by NBC today quoted a German officer captured by the Russians as saying that desertion is increasing and discipline has been lax in the Nazi armies since the removal of Field Marshal Walther Von Brauchitsch from command.

The German officer, a member of the 409th infantry regiment, stated that Hitler's removal of Von Brauchitsch has undermined the entire German morale.

Rationing Board Starts Work

Mansfield's tire rationing board goes into action. Here, in temporary headquarters in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce, the board hears its first application for permission to purchase tires under the federal rationing program, which has allotted 61 passenger and 99 truck tires to Richland county for January. The applicant is Kent Rummel, coal dealer, at extreme right. Members of the board are, left to right, Fred Wolfe, Chairman James Bailey, L. A. Ott, John Cook and Attorney Harold D. Burns. Incidentally, the board turned down Rummel's application.

COUNCIL APPOINTS NEW CLERK IN TENSION-PACKED SESSION

ing Beer as the assistant. Then Black was summoned for the regular meeting which started at 8 p. m. and followed the organization meeting.

Because Black had not been provided with bond, Beer who, when informed of his selection, accepted the assistant clerkship, then presided as clerk.

The change-over in the clerkship was the subject of huddle conversations which took place among councilmen long after the meeting. Beer at one time was seen in a huddle with Councilman C. N. Shultz, Republican "whip" and Beer appeared to be remonstrating at great length.

The replacement of a clerk after many years of service is nothing new in city hall politics. When Beer took office, he succeeded W. W. Carter who had served for 14 years. Carter served seven years under civil service regulations and another seven with alternate Democratic and Republican majorities.

Balloting for the post was held by secret, written ballots upon request of Shultz. Black was given six votes while Beer won three. It was learned later that two of Beer's votes were cast by Democratic Councilmen Fred Miller and Michael Mihalick while the third was cast by Russell D. Porch, Republican.

Beer said today that he had not decided whether he would retain the post of assistant clerk for the entire month.

A move by Councilman George C. Kyle, who nominated Black, to have the clerk's salary raised from $2,000 annually to $2,100 and to also increase the clerk's fee for serving notices from 50 cents each to $1 was blocked when other councilmen refused to second the motion.

Black's salary was left at $2,000 with the extra fee of 50 cents per served notice. The clerk is required to serve between 600 and 800 notices annually.

APPROPRIATION REQUESTS SET

City To Seek $90,000 More For Operations In 1942; County Asks Less.

fair debt which last year increased to $6,700. The fair will receive $3,800, of which $2,800 is mandatory under the state law.

In the city, the $34,000 parking meter fund will be proyided by receipts from meters and not from taxation. Salaries of some of the patrolmen, the meter collector, new traffic lights, and other expenses for the traffic department will be paid from it, Service Director C. M. Crafton said.

An increase in the city street department fund from $31,000 last year to $47,300 in 1942 was set up with the expectation that gas tax funds from the state will be curtailed sharply this year by the ban on new car sales and tire rationing.

The police department, which is expecting to pay some of its officers from the parking meter fund, reduced its request by $2,000. Its request is for $58,840 this year as compared with $61,000 last year.

The city will need $77,567 for bond payments and interest this year as against $86,840 last year, Auditor Paul L. Kelley said. On the other hand, the county paid off its indebtness in 1940 and set up nothing for bonds or interest.

A $500 fund to place juvenile delinquents in private homes and the employment of an additional clerk to handle applications for birth certificates accounted for a $2,500 increase in the probate and juvenile court appropriation for the year.

The county set up a $26,000 fund for operation of the Richland County T. B. sanatorium this year. The county recently rented the building and took over the operation. There was no special fund for the institution last year.

Installation of the courthouse elevator last year left the commissioners with $8,000 more in the fund for courthouse and jail expenses. County Treasurer Charles C. Payne reduced his 1942 request nearly $800.

FDR CALLS FOR NINE BILLIONS IN NEW TAXES

Lists 56 Billion Budget as Price Needed To Preserve "Our Way of Life."

cerned only money to be paid out of the treasury. However, in setting up the $56,000,000,000 war program, the president said that beside an estimated $52,786,186,000 out of the treasury, he believed that an additional $3,000,000,000 would be spent out of the purses of the reconstruction finance corporation and other non-budgetary agencies for war purposes.

The treasury budget called total expenditures of $59,027,992,300 in the fiscal year beginning next July 1. This included the huge war item plus $1,750,000,000 for interest on the public debt, and reduced allotments for work relief, farm aid, governmental running expenses and other non-military costs.

To pay for this, President Roosevelt estimated there would be $16,487,200,000 of taxes from existing tax laws, asked $7,000,000 000 of new general taxes (not counting increased social security taxes, which do not count as revenues), and proposed borrowing of $35,540,792,000 from social security and other government trust funds and from the public.

In the current fiscal year, he figured, treasury expenses would total $30,675,796,162, including $23,996,525,400 for defense, and calculated that taxes would yield $11,943,993,000, leaving a deficit of $18,731,803,162 to be covered by borrowing.

This meant that the World war spending peak of $18,522,000,000 will be passed this fiscal year and approximately tripled next year.

The president asked congress for an initial appropriation of $13,600,000,000 to get the huge new war program under way, and said he would ask for additional large amounts as the nation moved toward maximum production.

In his tax program, the president asked for approximately $2,000,000,000 of added social security taxes plus $7,000,000,000 of income, excess profits, estate and gift, and excise taxes. He approved of almost any kind of new taxes except a general sales tax —and he indicated that even that type of levy laer might become necessary on a temporary basis.

The president, however, offered a little bright news to the general public, too.

He said the nation's productive resources were enough in spite of diversions to war output to enable the people "to maintain a standard of living more than adequate to support the health and productivity of our people. x x x I do not at present propose general consumer ration cards.

Non-military agencies of the government, the president said, will be cut more than $1,000,000,000 in their next year's budgets. He predicted work relief costs would go down from $942,430,000 this fiscal year to $480,075,000 next year; that farm aid would decline from $1,117,082,000 to $854,050,000; that aid to youth costs (CCC and NYA) would fall from $235,000,000 to $100,000,000, and cited other savings on administrative expenses of other agencies and public works.

Roads not needed for defense, postoffices, and other public works considered non-essential would get no money, he said, unless they were already under construction. He said he hoped congress would skip its usual blanket road-building grants to states.

Here's New Budget At a Glance

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— The budget for the 1943 fiscal year at a glance:

Total spending—$59,027,992,300.

Total war expenditures — $52,786,186,000 (including army, navy and lend-lease).

Total non-war spending — $6,141,806,300 (regular civil agencies, veterans benefits, debt interest and other fixed charges).

Revenue—$27,000,000,000.

Deficit—$35,500,000,000.

Taxes—$7,000,000,000 in new levies of all types, and through the plugging of loop holes in existing laws; also $2,000,000,000 to be obtained in additional social security revenue.

Public deft at end of fiscal year—$110,400,000,000.

JAPS GIRD FOR INDIES ATTACK

War Department Says Large Invasion Force Masses at Davao Bay.

which U. S. army bombers may have been flying to attack Japanese warships in the Philippines.

For Japan, the Indies with their treasure-trove of such vital war supplies as rubber, tin and oil would be one of the richest prizes in the Far East.

A U. S. war department communique disclosed that Japanese naval units massed in Davao bay included a battleship, five cruisers, six destroyers, 12 submarines and 12 transports—obviously a greater force than would be needed merely to support new landing operations in the Philippines.

Davao, at the southern tip of the Philippines, lies 600 miles below the Manila fighting sector where Gen. Douglas MacArthur's heroic defenders were reported still holding the Japanese at bay on the approaches to Batan peninsula.

Further supporting the belief that Japan's war loads planned an attack on the Dutch colonies — possibly a stepping-stone to Australia—was the report that Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, newly-appointed Allied commander in chief in the Far East, would make his headquarters in Java, where the Indies capital, Batavia, is situated.

At the same time, Lieut-Gov. H. J. Van Mook disclosed that the Dutch have long been preparing a "scorched earth" plan to prevent the Indies' oil fields and industries from falling inta Japanese hands.

With a tiny but highly active fighting force, the Indies Dutch have already destroyed a total of two Japanese cruisers, two destroyers, nine transports, two merchant ships and 15 planes in the month-old Pacific conflict, it was officially announced.

In addition, two Japanese cruisers, two destroyers, four transports and nine planes have been damaged.

Imperial Tokyo headquarters —whose acknowledgement of losses, incidentally, has been meager — admitted today, that another Japanese submarine has been sunk in the Pacific and a cruiser damaged in an attack by Allied aircraft on Jan. 4.

The Malaya situation continued bad for the British, and Tokyo said British air power in Malaya had been driven to refuge in Singapore, while that of the United States in the Philippines had become "meaningless militarily."

British admitted a further withdrawal of their forces in the eastern coast province of Pahang and "some penetration at one point" on the west coast.

But in central China, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's hard-fighting Chinese troops reported they had slain 7,000 more Japanese in the muddy Changsha, Hunan province, trap.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 7, 1942.

President Roosevelt Charts Course

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S annual message on "the state of the union," as personally delivered yesterday to the new congress, was keyed to war pitch and served as a succinct summing up of recent happenings, present conditions and future purposes.

This year's program of production, as outlined by the president, is so stupendous—in the light of 1941's meager output—that it is difficult to realize that his forecast must be based on knowledge that what he SAYS will be done CAN BE ACTUALLY ACCOMPLISHED.

"Let no man say it cannot be done," the president enjoined. "It must be done—and we have undertaken to do it."

What we have "undertaken to do," in this year of 1942, is to produce 60,000 planes for military use; 45,000 tanks; 20,000 anti-aircraft guns and 8,000,000 deadweight tons of merchant vessels—with greatly increased production in each classification in prospect for 1943.

And the war cost for 1942—FIFTY-SIX BILLION DOLLARS, or MORE THAN HALF the estimated national income for the year.

"This means taxes and bonds and bonds and taxes," the president frankly declared. "It means cutting luxuries and other non-essentials. In a word, it means an 'all out' war by individual effort and family effort in a united country."

Accepting the challenge of enemy nations as a challenge to each and every American, President Roosevelt, as commander in chief of the nation's armed forces, made it clear that attack will be carried to the enemy at any place in the world where it seems advisable—that "powerful and offensive actions must and will be taken in proper time."

A hint of the further restrictions war will quickly bring in production of civilian commodities is found in the call for conversion of every available plant and tool to war needs, "from the largest automobile factory to the village machine shop"—speeded to 24 hours a day and seven days a week schedules.

This briefly summarizes the task that lies ahead—and the quicker the lethargy of 1941 is shaken off, and the reality of war realized, the better it will be for America, and for the world.

Restraint of Aliens Necessary

SLOW response of Mansfield and Richland county German and Italian aliens to the order that they surrender guns, explosives, cameras and short-wave radio sets, is more likely due to ignorance than defiance.

These people should be made to understand, by friends or officials, that they are nationals of countries with which the United States is now at war, and that the customary freedom accorded aliens must be temporarily withdrawn.

Even the restrictions placed on aliens in this country are mild as compared to practices of any of the countries with which the United States is at war, and failure of aliens in Germany, Italy or Japan to comply with orders would mean confinement in prison or a concentration camp for offenders.

It is also required that Italian, German and Japanese aliens who wish to travel outside of their own community give full details about the nature of the trip, the route and means of transportation. They are not permitted to travel by air under any circumstances.

A number of those who are affected by these new restraints have lived in the United States for a long time, but because of neglect, indifference, or some other reason, have not become naturalized. Many of them are well-intentioned and dependably loyal, but sad experience has proved that this is not true of all aliens in this country—and war is too serious a business to permit taking chances.

Make Tire Stealing a Felony

AUTOMOBILE tires take on greater importance and increased value because of being irreplaceable.

Suggestions that theft of tires, regardless of their intrinsic value, be punishable as a felony instead of a misdemeanor, are well founded, and might be effective in discouraging the wave of tire thefts already noted in some parts of the country.

At Richmond, Va., this week a man convicted of stealing a used tire was given the maximum petty larceny penalty of $100 fine and 12 months imprisonment. "Tires are gold today," commented the judge in imposing sentence.

Honest people are too much concerned about winning the war to be subjected to annoyance and inconvenience by thieves.

Free Men United In Common Cause

THE middle of such a war as the world is now fighting may seem to be a strange time to note progress in recognition of human brotherhood.

At the inauguration of President Quezon of the Philippines the other day High Commissioner Francis B. Sayre spoke of the "comradeship of blood" that had been built up between the Filipinos and Americans in the battle against the Japanese. "Trustee" and "ward" have forgotten that relationship in their common fight for freedom. Each has developed a new respect for the other.

Similar changes are taking place in other parts of the world. Thoughtful people among the white democracies must be profoundly thankful that the great Chinese people are on their side, that the war is not a conflict of Orient against Occident, or of colored races against white.

It is a war of freedom-loving peoples of many nations and colors against freedom-hating peoples who would impose their cruel domination on the whole world. This war is revealing that pigmentation is no index to understanding, courage, or love of freedom. That discovery alone must inevitably do a great deal for true human brotherhood.

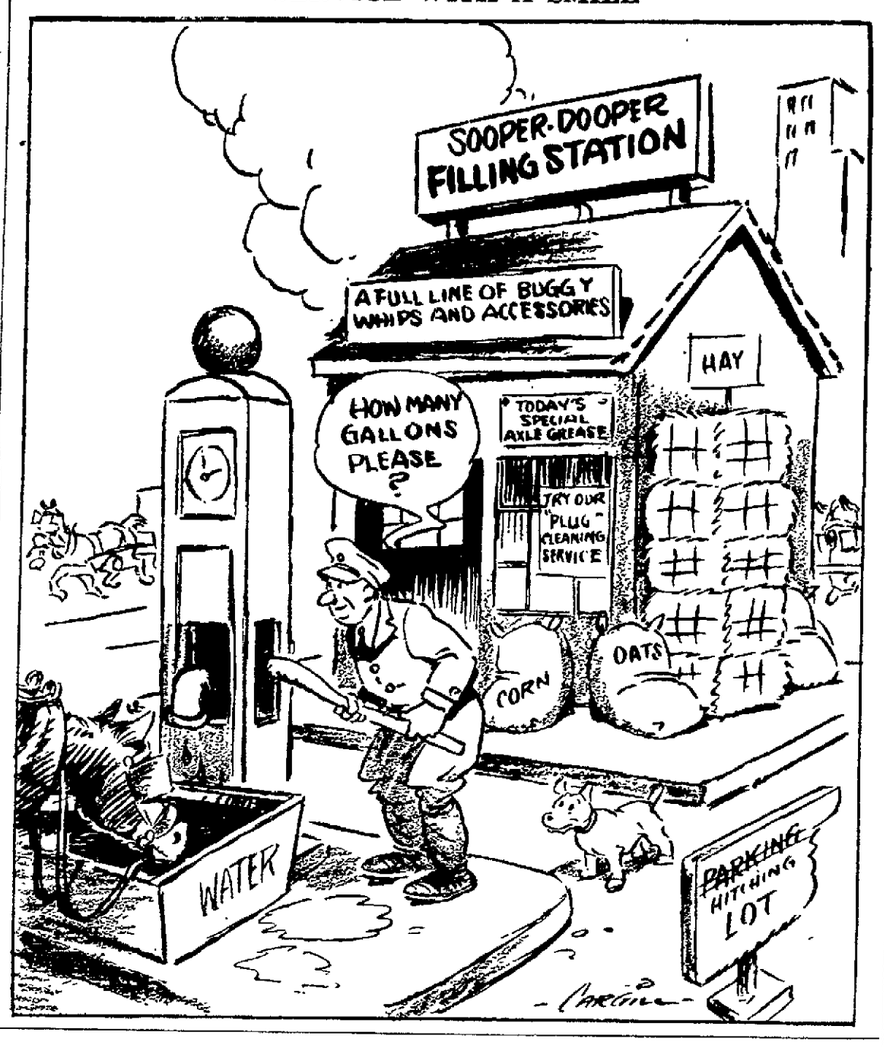
One little revision has been made in the opera, "Mikado," now appearing in Washington—the well-known opening line, "We are gentlemen of Japan," substitutes "gangsters" for "gentlemen."

Those isolationists who until recently were confident that two wide oceans were sufficient protection are now wondering how soon Russia will get around to helping us.

Blackout tests on the west coast reveal need for a "stronger siren"—which recalls days when Hollywood had an almost unlimited supply.

Science claims to have developed odorless onions—but would they be onions?

SERVICE WITH A SMILE



War Economy Will Bite Deeply

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — High government officials are figuring that the war certainly will last for two more years, and more likely longer. Five years is the maximum in most calculations.

Looking at it from a strictly economic standpoint, the war is CERTAIN to continue until every hamlet in America is geared to the war, taking its part in the war economy, producing something or other for the war need. By the same token not a hamlet in the country but will have its ordinary, peace-time economy interrupted. These things will certainly happen inside two years, and perhaps, it is to be hoped, sooner.

But this means that the war will not end until we have reached the highest possible tide of war economy, and touched the very bottom of peace-time economy. This spells a headache for AFTER the war. It is generally realized in the government, and plans are accordingly being made to take care of this peace-time problem when it comes.

Here and there are optimists who insist that we are bound to have a period of prosperity right after the final armistice. They base their theory on the pattern followed after the last war, when it was not until 1930 that economic difficulty appeared.

It is a theory easy to understand. When several years have passed with good earnings for everyone willing and able to work, and with all the people deprived of a number of things they would like to have for the simple reason that they cannot buy them, it is obvious that there will be tremendous piled-up demand.

PERHAPS the best illustration will be automobiles and auto supplies. By the end of two years more of war, to say nothing of five, there will be millions of people in this country who want new automobiles, and who have the money to pay for them. These will be people who have been employed at good wages all through the war, but who have not been able to spend all their money. There will be another large group who have had their old autos in storage because they could not get tires for them.

So there will be a magnificent market for autos and supplies which will take a year or two after the auto factories have been turned back from wartime to peace-time production before these wants can be satisfied.

The same is true, though the totals probably will amount to less dollars, and hence less days' work, in many other lines—electric and gas refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, new utensils, tools, all sorts of things running into hundreds if not thousands of categories.

SUPPLYING all these wants will provide plenty of employment for a considerable period of time—until the productive capacity of the country, turned back to peace-time economy (which conversion will take some time, it must be remembered) has caught up with this piled up demand.

It is interesting to trace the record of what happened to Liberty bonds right after the last war. When peace came so many people, with the patriotic urge removed, wanted to sell their bonds and buy things that the bonds went down sharply. They took several years to recover their price!

And the piled-up demand after the last war will not be a marker to what it will be this time. This time the war economy is really going to bite deeply.

BUT YOU HAVEN'T HEARD NOTHIN' YET.

S'pose you get up one of these nippy mornings, with a yen for a breakfast steak? So what? So if you belong to aforesaid City of the Angels, you'll change it to flap-jacks, quick. Or find yourself gnawing the jail bars., For the L. A. City Fathers long since decreed that Meat for Eats is O-U-T before 11 a. m. Do they really mean it? I dunno. Try ordering one and see.

OR, JUST FOR VARIETY—

Try taking a bath in Virginia, where the Law declares it's criminal to have a bathtub in the house. Do your personal laundering in the back yard—or else!

Or p'raps you're a barber. Then restrain your yen for onions. At least in Waterloo, Nebraska, where it's illegal to eat 'em between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m.

Portland, Maine. There's another city that aims to take the joy out of life. Lawmakers couldn't find anything else to crab about so they've made it unlawful to tickle your girl under the chin with a feather duster.

Have I gone suddenly and completely crazy! I have not. I'm just introducing you to your United States and a few of its lawful rules 'n' ordinances. In the sincere hope that you'll loosen up and have a laugh! If there's one thing this America needs right now, it's a good, old-fashioned, hip-slapping haw-haw. Washington Merry-Go-Round

Absence of Foresight Real Cause Of Acute Rubber Shortage In U.S.

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The American public already has had a tough blow in regard to the use of automobile tires. But the inside figures indicate that the blow will be even tougher in the future.

The production of synthetic rubber for tires, begun by Germany several years before the war, in this country now totals only between 7,865 and 10,000 tons for an entire year.

Moreover, the new synthetic rubber factories, financed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, will not get into production until April, at the earliest, and most of them not until August. And when finished, their total production will be only 48,000 to 50,000 tons yearly.

Thus, a year from today, we may possibly have a total of 60,000 tons of synthetic rubber—if we are lucky; if the plants are finished ahead of schedule; and if they produce a little faster than is expected.

Compare this 60,000 tons to the 720,000 tons of rubber consumed by the United States during the past year, and you get some idea why Leon Henderson was so abrupt and tight-lipped about clamping down on tire consumption.

Rubber Facts.

HERE are the new synthetic plants under construction, their scheduled date of completion, and capacity:

Goodyear, April-May, 10,000 tons.

Goodrich, Late August, 10,000 tons.

Firestone, August, 10,000 tons.

U. S. Rubber, August, 10,000 tons.

Standard Oil of La. (private financing) Late 1942, 8,000 to 10,000 tons.

DuPont (private financing), Late 1942, 10,000 tons.

In addition, the RFC announced last week that plans capable of producing 80,000 more tons would be sponsored by the government. But with the entire nation in a race to get defense materials, these plants will take another year to get into production—even if then.

Thus, unless we are able to send tremendous labor battalions to the jungles of the Amazon—and here the scarcity of shipping is important—it will be seen that the United States has in effect suffered an economic Pearl Harbor. And like Pearl Harbor, the rubber defeat came about largely because we were caught napping.

"Bottleneck" Jesse.

COMPLACENT, genial Jesse Jones, whose job it was to lend the money for these synthetic rubber factories, was questioned recently as to why he had not been more far-sighted. His reply was: "Hindsight is always better than foresight."

However, since we have many other lessons to learn in this war, and since the first president of the United States advised his countrymen to "look back for the purpose of profiting by Dear Bought Experience", it is worth looking at the record on rubber.

The record, as written in the Washington Merry-Go-Round, shows that as early as July 13, 1940, eighteen months ago, Edward Stettinius, who had been woefully wrong on aluminum and didn't want to be wrong again, announced that before the end of July, "it is expected a plan for synthetic rubber production will have been worked out which in the future will eliminate our dependence upon imports."

In that same month, Emil Schram of the RFC, lived up to Stettinius' announcement by working out a plan with Goodrich and Phillips Petroleum to finance a rubber plant capable of producing 100,000 tons yearly, which at that time was about one-sixth of our consumption. However, Jesse Jones, who as federal loan administrator, outranked RFChief Schram, stopped the deal.

The plan fell through, and Schram, disgusted with interference and procrastination, later resigned.

Six months passed. And Stettinius' prediction that we would work out plans to become independent of the Dutch East Indies remained only in the paper stage.

Stettinius Tears Hair.

ON December 8, 1940, this column reported: "A fundamental difference exists between the defense commission and Jesse Jones. The commission believes that production of synthetic rubber should begin immediately, and wants a subsidy of $180,000,000 to American rubber companies.

"However Jesse Jones doesn't believe synthetic rubber needs to be produced on a large scale. The defense commission counters with a forecast of what might happen should all our rubber be cut off from the Dutch East Indies. It emphasizes that machinery cannot be set up overnight. Stettinius is really aroused, may appeal to the White House if he doesn't soon move Jesse."

Again on Feb. 12, 1941, the Merry-Go-Round reported: "Stettinius is almost tearing his hair over the ponderous patience of Jesse Jones. In October, Jesse said that the RFC might construct a government synthetic rubber plant, but in January he said he had shifted back to the idea of lending money to private companies. But still later in the same month, he announced that synthetic rubber is in the 'status quo'."

"There the situation rests—waiting for Jesse Jones to do something. Meanwhile, the chance of Japanese taking the Dutch East Indies becomes greater."

Finally, on May 16, 1941, just one year after Roosevelt asked the defense commission to do something about rubber, Mr. Jones announced a loan to four rubber companies to manufacture pilot plants. The loan was not $180,000,000 as requested by the defense commission, but a meager $1,250,000 to each company. Jesse was being a good banker to the end. Today, however, his nickname is Washington is not "Banker" Jones, but "Bottleneck" Jesse Jones.

Note:—During the months of argument over whether to build or not to build synthetic rubber plants, half a dozen chiefs of the OPM rubber section have resigned in disgust, after demanding drastic action in view of the situation in the Pacific.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There's an old brass bed in storage in the basement of the Astor hotel. When Jimmy Durante heaves his funnybones to town, this bed is resurrected, with many a sigh by the hired hands, and set up in a room that looks straight down Broadway. It's the only bed and the only room the Schnoz will sleep in.

He told me this seven or eight years ago, and I set it down as the genial palaver of a guy who felt like talking. I was wrong. Durante has a standing order for that bed to be resurrected and sheeted for his benefit whenever he is in town.

Jimmy is in town now. And this hideous token of a vanished elegance is in its place at the hotel. "I love it," the clown says. "Best sleepin' bed in town."

JAMES DURANTE, who came to fame through the open door of the lower East Side, with an assist from his nose, is a funnyman who is indulging in the serious business of a professional comeback. His appearance in the city at this time was dictated by the opening of "You're In the Army Now," a film, and said to be a very funny film. I haven't seen it.

On the way to New York he stopped off in Chicago to do a benefit that was witnessed by 28,000 people. His reception was so enthusiastic that Jim reverted to his form of other days and began breaking the furniture. During the process he broke off the legs of an expensive Steinway piano. Next day Ashton Stevens, noted drama critic, commented on the breakage editorially: it was well worth it, said Stevens. What's a few pianos when the crowd got such a laugh.

Mr. Stevens is a man after Jimmy Durante's own heart. Only, Jimmy would say it this way, "What's ANYTHING matter . . . when you can get a few laughs."

THIS tearful story was told me by Anthony W. Ludescher over mid-afternoon caffein the other day. Five of his red-haired girls have left him for matrimony.

It should be explained that Mr. Ludescher has 28 girls, all redheads. He's the manager of a string of restaurants, including the Mayan, the News Center, and the International. The News Center has acquired a national color through the fame of its waitresses. You can't get a job there, unless you're redheaded. Tony gets letters from redheaded young women all over the United States, asking for jobs. All this came up when I said, "Tony, you've got a new cashier. What happened to the other one?"

"They get married," he sighed resignedly. "They all do. You think you've got everything about straightened out, and pronto—it's rice and old shoes. It does seem that in spite of everything, young girls will get married."

A Farmer's Diary

Rural Fifth Column

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IN SPITE of repeated death sentences, and innumerable rewards posted on their heads, the filthy fifth column of rats is still a rural scourge. That the rat has survived so long proves him a clever and resourceful enemy.

Many tales are told of rat ingenuity, fearlessness and cunning. They have been known to carry an egg upstairs without breaking it — climbing walls three stories high to reach the attic where they harbored. Often when we cleaned our barnyard, as a lad, we had a lively rat hunt. Beneath the litter near the ground, a network of tunnels would be found, with here and there an enlargement lined with cornhusks or grass, where scores of young rats were nested. Given several boys—each armed with a heavy fork and a dog—and quite a lot of excitement can be achieved by a rat hunt on a wintry day.

A boy on a farm neighboring ours had a ferret. This trained hunter would slither into any likely hole and chase the vermin out. When a pair of large old rats lived under our potato bin one year, and fought the housecat until she ran for shelter to the highest shelf, we invited the neighbor to bring his ferret over. Under the bin ran the ferret and out came two panting gray-faced rats and climbed a pole that leaned against the wall. There they flattened themselves in fear, and our rat terrier finished them.

A rat will eat as much as 50 pounds of grain each year, but will pick over and foul ten times as much as he consumes. He takes toll, too, of young poultry, eggs and even full grown chickens. He carries the dread bovine tuberculosis that often destroys a farmer's entire herd; he makes it impossible to eradicate Bang's disease until he is banished from the stables. He houses on his filthy body the cholera scourge and scours that infect our hogs.

Besides the loss to stock, the common rat strips the average farm of a tithe of grain, and disturbs the farm family in their beds by romping, fighting and gnawing between the studding. No blackout is ever quite effective against them.

One farmer whom I knew, told of an effective remedy. He said he captured alive a grizzly old rat and dabbed him with tar and feathers, then let him go. He rushed straight for his usual haunts—but all the rest were so badly frightened by the tale he told that they moved right out. That farm has been free from rats for more than a year.

At our place, we find two good barn cats are quite effective.

Uncertain Destiny + + + + + +

By Betty Webb

CHAPTER II

They had shared school-year confidences, attending dancing classes together, but with their high school graduation had come the parting of their ways. Sally, only daughter of the Prairievale newspaper publisher, had gone to a smart finishing school while Linda stayed at home. Her marriage to banker Hugh Barnes a scant year before had been a brilliant affair in Prairievale. Their home on the outskirts of town was a favorite showplace. Yet, despite her social standing, her background of wealth and culture, Sally maintained her friendship with Linda, disregarding the latter's protests that she did not "fit in" with Sally's smart circle.

Like Linda, Sally had been invited to the Chicago wedding, but while Linda's decision to go came only in a fit of despair and bewilderment, Sally needed only to summon a maid to pack her smart gowns, blithely kiss her husband good-bye, and embark on a gay week-end.

There were no more angry words, but the Phillips household was caught in a flurry of packing, of haste and excitement on Linda's part that evening, before she was ready to leave for the railroad station.

Peering again into her mirror, Linda touched her fresh finger-wave, tipped her new hat at a precarious angle, and marveled that her new dress seemed to brighten her old spring and fall coat.

Mary Phillips maintained an injured silence almost to the end, but at last she said mildly, "I must say you've made Kyle feel very badly."

"I'm sorry, mother," Linda was distressed; then her pretty face cleared magically. "But it will be such a lark. I haven't seen Betty or Diane for a long time."

"But you were never a close friend of Betty's," her mother objected, "and if her wedding takes place on Saturday evening, and she's leaving immediately on a cruise, I can't see—"

It was true that Linda had never become very friendly with Betty Allison. Always the girl had stayed with Sally on her infrequent summer visits to Prairievale, despite the fact that she was Mary Phillips' niece.

They knew very little about her forthcoming marriage, except that Betty's fiance was a member of a prominent eastern family, but Linda, since receiving the invitation, had dreamed of spending the week-end in Chicago—of seeing Diane and Betty. She had yearned for one final fling before she married and settled down, and now—now she was to have it!

Still, she could not explain to her mother how she felt; that this brief trip away from Prairievale would be something to cherish when life in the village became dull and monotonous.

At the last minute Kyle appeared, and Linda found herself stiffening defiantly, fully expecting another burst of bitter words.

"I'll take you to the train, Linda," he said humbly, "that is, if you're not still sore at me." His eyes were wistful, and his manner so pathetic that Linda melted.

"Of course you may. I'll call Sally and tell her we'll meet at the station."

Riding to the station she looked slantwise at the man she was to marry, experiencing as she had on their first date years before, the same familiar thrill of delight. Kyle was handsome, unusually, despite the spoiled pout of his mouth. He turned suddenly and caught her appraising him.

"Still angry at me, dear?"

Fondly she put one small hand over his, resting on the wheel. "No, I'm not angry, I—I'm just disappointed, I guess. We've been engaged for so long, Kyle. Four years is a long time to skimp and make plans and have our air castles tumble down again and again."

They had reached the nearly-deserted station now, and Kyle parked his car carefully before he spoke again. Then he turned, putting his arms around Linda's small figure.

"Don't you think it hurts me, too?" he queried. "But what else can we do but wait? If only I had a job—a substantial job, I mean. But how can I take care of you when I'm never sure of myself?"

That was true. Despite the doubt which had crept into Linda's mind of late, regarding Kyle's affection for her, the girl knew he had never had an easy time—a secure moment. The son of poverty-stricken tenant farmers, it had taken great effort for Kyle to put himself through high school in Prairievale. Still, Linda sometimes wondered whether the man, at times, didn't expect too much from his employers.

Scolding herself for her doubts, Linda touched his cheek with her finger-tips.

"Poor darling," she smiled. "We'll manage somehow. There's no hurry."

"I'm not going to bother you with my troubles now," Kyle said briskly. "You have a good time and forget about me. But don't" he paused to kiss her gently, "forget you belong to me."

Sally was waiting on the station platform with her husband, and, as always, she greeted Linda with enthusiasm.

"I was afraid you'd be late," she cried, "but Hugh said I was foolish to worry."

Hugh Barnes was a large man with an impressive, jolly manner, and he adored his small, vivacious wife. That much was evident in the way he looked at her. Seeing them together, so gay and happy, always made Linda feel strangely lonely and neglected, as though they knew a gay secret which she could never share.

The train pulled in, steaming like a monster dragon, and Hugh bustled away with Sally following, and left Linda and Kyle to say their last good-byes.

"We're behaving like foolish children," Linda gigled, "acting as though we were saying good-bye for always, instead of two days."

"I'm not sure it isn't a premonition," Kyle answered, and his tone was so sober that the smile left Linda's face and she eyed him anxiously.

"What do you mean?"

"Nothing. Forget it Linda. You'd better jump on the train before it goes without you."

She clung to him, suddenly, urgently. "I—I don't want to leave you now. I feel as though I'd been childish. I only said I'd go because I was angry and hurt."

"Forget it," he said brusquely. He kissed her briefly, and then Linda boarded the train, waving good-bye until they had pulled away from the station and Kyle and Hugh were dim figures—vague little people Linda Phillips would never know again.

Later, with the tears still damp on her cheeks, Linda joined Sally in the drawing-room which Hugh had insisted on reserving for them. Sally was curled up on the seat, a diminutive figure clad in green velvet and a corsage of orchids. Her hair, the color of corn silk, hung to her shoulders, brushed soft and smooth and shining, and her brightly-rouged lips smiled a warm welcome.

"I'm so glad you decided to come along," she said frankly. "Confidentially I dread making trips alone. I hate being by myself. But—" she spread her slim hands expressively — "when you called and said you were going, it practically floored me! What made you change your mind?"

Linda flushed and bit her lip. Regardless of her close association with Sally, and her recent quarrel with Kyle, she could not bear for the other girl to know there had been trouble between them.

"You had a fight with Kyle," Sally said unexpectedly. So it had been unnecessary for Linda to confess! She felt her cheeks reddening, and nodded miserably.

"I—I wish now I weren't going," she admitted, "but Kyle lost his job. And I was—well, feeling badly, and I said I would go just to spite him. He — he didn't want me to."

Linda had expected sympathy from the other girl. Instead Sally laughed. "I think he's being selfish," she said. "Surely if my husband urged me to go, it was only fair that Kyle would want you to get away for a little vacation. Goodness knows you deserve one!"

She stopped short, and Linda glanced at her. Had Sally meant anything by those words? Linda could not tell, and suddenly she was weary and confused. The innocent week-end jaunt seemed to have reached frightening proportions.

"I—I shouldn't have come," she cried. "I—I'll be out of place there!"

Sally patted her hand gently. "I'm very glad you came, honey. You'll have the time of your life. Somehow I have a feeling that life will begin for Linda Phillips, when she sets foot in the Windy City!"

To Linda's inexperienced eyes, Chicago was a majestic city, and while the taxi bearing the two girls sped toward its destination, Linda viewed eagerly the shrieking elevated trains clattering overhead, the small, inviting shops and towering skyscrapers; exclaimed in delight when she first glimpsed Lake Michigan.

"You're getting a big kick out of this, aren't you, honey?" Sally said, watching her companion.

"Oh, yes!" Linda was enchanted. "I've never been in a large city before. I always wanted to travel, but after I got out of school and began working, I had to save my money." She did not say, "and then I met Kyle," but it was on the tip of her tongue and Sally's swift glance was shrewd and understanding. Linda felt color suffusing her skin and began to chatter about the changing street scenes to cover her embarrassment.

The taxi came to a stop before a large apartment house overlooking the lake. Sally escorted Linda through the impressive lobby and into an elevator that swept them up to the fourteenth floor with a swiftness that left Linda amazed and breathless.

She hung back shyly, admiring the luxurious carpeting and lovely hangings in the corridor, while Sally tapped lightly at a door marked 1403. It opened promptly to reveal a colored maid in a trim black and white uniform.

"Miss Frazier's expecting you," she said in reply to Sally's question. As the girls entered the room, Sally completely at ease, Linda a little awed by this show of splendor, a familiar voice caroled:

"Louise, is that Sally Barnes?"

"Yes'm, it's Miss Barnes all right," the maid replied, and then, dubiously, "but there's somebody else with her."

"Somebody with—" A shining red head popped around a door, and an expression of surprise and pleasure dawned on the pretty face.

"Linda!" cried Diane Frazier, coming forward. "This is a surprise!"

"I practically had to kidnap her away from Prairievale," Sally laughed, tossing bag, hat and gloves on a near-by chair.

"Prairievale!" Diane made a grimace of distaste. She motioned to the portly maid, saying. "Louise, take Miss Phillips' things to the guest room and then fix the girls some breakfast. They must be starved."

Then she held Linda's hand affectionately. "Darling, I'm so happy you could come. It's been ages since we three had a good, old-fashioned gab fest."

She gestured dramatically. "Remember our long talks in the Prairievale library? What topics we had! Boys, and clothes and all the latest scandal." She laughed vivaciously. "I used to exaggerate my opinions just to see Linda's shocked expressions, and watch her gasp in amazement because she thought I was bold and brazen. Didn't you, Linda?"

When the other girl protested feebly, Diane hugged her. "Never mind, darling. The topics of conversation never vary, but I promise I won't shock you with my ideas."

She motioned to her filmy negligee. "I just finished having my breakfast in bed," she explained, "so if you'll excuse me, I'll get dressed. Make yourselves at home, girls, and I'll be out in a jiffy."

She disappeared into her bedroom. While Sally stretched out inelegantly on a chintz covered sofa, Linda examined the living room carefully. It was small and tastefully arranged, with quantities of beautifully-arranged flowers in gay pottery vases. Diane's exquisite artistic sense had been allowed to express itself in the selection and arrangement of the color schemes, and Linda was not a little impressed by the result.

"Diane must make a great deal of money," she whispered in Sally's ear. "to have this beautiful apartment, and a maid, and not have to work unless she wants to."

Sally nodded. "She does very well for herself. She has a studio downtown, and does illustrations for several fashion magazines."

"I wonder why she's never married?" Linda said, musingly. "Surely with her beauty and personality she's had opportunities."

"Undoubtedly," Sally yawned contentedly, "but Diane Frazier is a rather self-sufficient young person. Perhaps she's too independent and expects too much of her admirers because she's so clever and shrewd."

"I wish I had one-half her ability," Linda mourned. Then, laughing, "I guess I'm just nothin' but a nothin'."

"You have something Diane has never had," Sally observed brightly. "We both have something more precious than all of Diane's glamour, and that's love. In all her twenty-four years Diane's never loved anyone but Diane." Sally patted herself lightly on the back. "I'm awfully glad I'm Sally Barnes."

Announcement to the Public:

Through the co-operation of a public-spirited group of leading citizens in Mansfield and Richland County, the nationally famous AMERICAN MAJORITY movement will be introduced to this community shortly.

The AMERICAN MAJORITY is a progressive movement toward betterment in the political, economic and social life of this country. It is nationally directed by Walter B. Pitkin, famed champion of the rights of the everyday citizen. Mr. Pitkin is an average American . . . farmer, city-dweller, businessman, educator. And the success of his AMERICAN MAJORITY movement in promoting good government has proved the soundness of his plan.

The AMERICAN MAJORITY principles are being brought to Mansfield and Richland County. Briefly stated, its fundamental aims are as follows:

1. Arousing American interest in public affairs, through intelligent organization of the great majority—large and small business men and women, doctors, lawyers, shopworkers, manufacturers, farmers, white collar people—the average citizen.
2. Serving as a clearing-house for other non-political organizations—such as the Rotary, Kiwanis, P.T.A., soldier groups, labor, chambers of commerce, employers' associations, etc., in co-ordinating their activities in the handling of important local, state and national affairs.
3. Working toward elimination of governmental extravagances.
4. Offsetting influences of minority pressure groups.
5. Exposing irregularities and dishonesty in all phases of governmental activities.
6. Striving to eliminate waste, "parasites," and racketeers.
7. More fair levy of taxes.
8. Maintaining our system of free enterprise so that all may enjoy to the full—Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness.

A responsible group of Richland County citizens has studied the results achieved by the AMERICAN MAJORITY in other communities. They have seen the proof of its power in keeping down expenditures of public money, and protecting the average citizen against abuses of our democratic principles in government.

Watch for further announcements regarding the purposes and results of this organization, and for the date on which it will be introduced to Mansfield and Richland County.

WEDDING TAKES PLACE IN LUTHERAN CHURCH

Mrs. Reba E. Cupp, of This City, and Rodger B. Grove, of Newark, Exchange Vows Tuesday; Were First License Applicants In '42.

WEDDING of the first couple to apply for a marriage license here in 1942, took place at 8:45 o'clock last night when Mrs. Reba E. Cupp, 460 South Main street, and Rodger B. Grove, of Newark, exchanged vows in the First English Lutheran church. Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor, officiated.

Mrs. Grove is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Elmore, of Columbus. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pressler Grove, of Newark. Attendants for the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Luther Elmore of Mt. Vernon, brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

A powder blue street-length dress was worn with navy blue accessories by Mrs. Grove. Her shoulder corsage was of Talisman roses. Mrs. Elmore wore a gold street-length dress with black accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for 20 guests at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Schooley, 460 South Main street, with whom she makes her home. Table decorations were all-white. There was a large wedding cake topped with miniature bride and bridegroom. The couple left later on a short wedding trip. They will return about Jan. 10.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dietrich and Mr. and Mrs. Verne Rider, all of Mt. Vernon.

Mrs. Grove, who operates the "B-Lovely" beauty shop at the South Main street address, came to Mansfield from Mt. Vernon recently. Mr. Grove is employed at Worley's Clothing store in Mt. Vernon.

Sorority Guest Party Held on Tuesday Night

Chi Sigma sorority members held a bingo and guest party at the Colonial Guest House Tuesday evening. Guests at the party were the Misses Ethel Heuss, Elizabeth Zellers and Marjorie Jones and Mrs. Adelaide Porch. Prizes were won by Miss Zellers and Mrs. Norman Leonard.

Luncheon was served buffet style from a long table attractively decorated with black and gold appointments and lighted tapers. Mrs. Robert Beard, who was in charge of arrangements, was assisted by the Misses Miriam Bean, Mary Butler and Wilma Ziegler and Mrs. Edith Courtney and Mrs. Edna Courtney. The sorority's annual Founders' Day dinner will be held Jan. 13.

C. C. Beelman Named Officer Of Band Club

C. C. Beelman was re-elected president of the Johnny Appleseed Band Parent's club at a meeting held Tuesday evening in the Johnny Appleseed high school cafeteria. Other officers elected were Mrs. T. L. Hockett, vice president; Mrs. W. G. McCready, secretary and W. O. Leedy, treasurer.

Members of the nominating committee were W. G. McCready, R. L. Traxell and Otto Klein. A covered dish dinner was served preceding the business session. G. W. Harmony, school principal, showed moving pictures. The committee in charge of arrangements for the meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Rebeun Neal, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Londot, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Shupp and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Blauser. The next meeting of the club will be held Feb. 3.

Monday Study Club Meeting

Monday Study club members held a meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Nicholas White, 410 Chevy Chase road. Mrs. Henry Huston and Mrs. White were hostesses for the meeting. Mrs. Dwight Weir gave an interesting paper on "America and the Refugees."

Mrs. Paul Weir presided at the table when luncheon was served. The long buffet table was attractively decorated with lighted tapers and winter flowers. Twenty-two members were in attendance. A short business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Lucille Daniels. Plans were made for the mid-year dinner party to be held Jan. 19 at "The Woods" near Ashland. Hostesses will be Mrs. William Bloor, Mrs. Eugene Renwick and Mrs. White.

Some 20,700,000 books were borrowed from public libraries in Canada in 1939.

During the meeting it was announced that 22 baskets had been donated to needy families during the Christmas holidays. Plans were made for a covered-dish dinner to be held Feb. 10 at the home of Mrs. Harmon. Games and contests were diversions of the evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Helen Morrow and Mrs. Betty Posa. Luncheon was served at the close of the meeting.

Pep-up Winter Wardrobe

Lovely black, lovely blue: A dream of loveliness in filmy black chiffon is Anne Shirley, RKO Radio star, as she appears in scenes of her latest picture, "Four Jacks and a Jill." Enhanced by ruffles of rich black lace, the full, gathered-on skirt with loop of the sheer fabric draped on right side, is provided with a deft touch of color at the waist with pink fabric roses. Note companion scarf worn over the head. It is sprinkled with sequins and attached to evening gloves of black suede. Designed by Renie, studio stylist. . . . At right, she is costumed in blue. Worthy of particular note is fitted jacket worn over slender skirt of dark blue to match maroon-feathered hat. Long jacket is of soldier blue and features tricky patch pockets, novelty sleeves (short ones posed over long ones) and self-covered buttons marching up to square-cut neck.

Dr. Lizabeth Mainzer Is A. A. U. W. Speaker

It is the belief of Dr. Lizabeth Mainzer, German refugee, who with her husband is now a practising physician in Mansfield, that the democracies of the world must keep armed against possible future aggressors. Dr. Mainzer was the speaker at the monthly branch meeting of the American Association of University Women which was held last evening at the Women's Club.

As long as any individual has an idea of aggression, democracy is not safe, said Dr. Mainzer, pointing out the very high degree of perfection of working democracy in the northern countries of Europe before the invasion by Germany, their refusal to arm, and the resulting weakness. Giving the background of culture and characteristics of many nations of Europe she said she sees great hope in our present plans to arm the occupied countries against Hitler.

One hope Dr. Mainzer says she clings to is that "no modern revolution has been successful in which the central power was in the hands of the ruling class."

Dr. Mainzer believes that most of the German people are still back of Hitler and his plans." Hitler only appealed to the educational trends which have been prevalent in Germany since the time of Bismarck. The idea of Teutonic superiority and world domination is bred deep in most German people and it will be necessary to completely crush not only the present military leaders but to keep armed against others who may follow with aggression ideas.

Switzerland, where Dr. Mainzer received her M. D. degree, has the highest cultural level in Central Europe, there being eight grade A universities for 4,000,000 people. The Swiss people, says Dr. Mainzer are well-trained fighters, ready to defend their democracy at all times and Hitler has let them alone.

Many announcements of general interest, as to the future activities of A. A. U. W. were made during the business meeting conducted immediately after dinner by the branch president, Mrs. Charles Kuntz.

The Red Cross sewing group is meeting today. The Current Problems group, under the leadership of Miss Margaret Tinsley is undertaking the Study of Japan in the War and will begin next Tuesday evening at a meeting at the home of Margaret DeWitt on Helen avenue. All members are urged to bring one new person from the general membership to this meeting.

Mrs. Dan Haber, arts chairman for the group displayed some of the work done by members of her art group and invited members or outside persons to attend her art classes at the Johnny Appleseed art rooms the first and third Mondays of each month from 4 to 6 in the afternoons.

Mrs. Haber also announced that her department would sponsor a one-man showing of wood sculpture here in Mansfield from March 11 to 25 in the Moorhead garage. It is the work of John Rood, of Athens, a new sculptor whose work is receiving fine recognition.

Miss Miriam Neese announced that plans for the annual dance are progressing. The dance will be held at the Mansfield-Leland from 10 p. m. to 2 a. m. on January 31, with Nels Blocker's orchestra. Mrs. L. A. Hautzenroeder is in charge of tickets sales. This dance is open to invited guests. The committee in charge consists of Margaret DeWitt, Mrs. E. P. Gaar, Mrs. V. A. Simpson, Mrs. Grant Ward, Mrs. Clifford Faust, Mrs. Homer Swift and Mrs. Berlyn McCready.

Miss Esther Barnett, social studies chairman for the branch, urged co-operation of A. A. U. W. with the city Civilian Defense program and members were given blanks to fill out and mail to her at the probate court.

Miss Virginia Chew, explained the purpose of the Book Fair to be held at the library soon, invited members to attend the talk on the American Primer and urged them to give co-operation to the coming campaign for old books.

Mrs. T. C. Hoffman, program chairman, announced that the next meeting was the one and only open meeting of the year and asked that reservations for the dinner be made early with Mrs. Garr. George Washburn, of the Department of History at Ohio State university, will be the speaker for this meeting on Feb. 3.

Mrs. Hoffman introduced Dr. Mainzer and Miss Fannie Lew Eiler, who presented a trio of A. A. U. W. members in three delightful after dinner selections. Miss Pearl Danbeck, flute, Miss Mary Gracy, violin and Mrs. Howard Diller, cello, accompanied by Miss Eiler played "Love Light," "With Muted Strings" and "Love's Old Sweet Song."

Mrs. H. C. Lime was welcomed as a new member of the branch. Mrs. J. A. Green, a transfer from Cincinnati, is also a new member. Mrs. Berlyn McCready was welcomed back after a year's absence. Miss Betty Strother was a guest last evening.

On January 20 any members interested in an afternoon bridge group are asked to meet at the home of Mrs. Paul Schultz, 129 Dawson avenue.

Mrs. Andrews, of Ashland College, Is Guest Speaker

Luncheon was served at the Women's club at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to 23 members and six guests of the Tourist club. Mrs. Dimon Herring and Mrs. Elmer Post were hostesses. Two long tables were decorated with centerpieces of attractive winter flowers. The guests were Mrs. Charles Abele, Mrs. Fanny Carrier, Mrs. Harry Downs, Mrs. C. F. Lucas, of Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Sidney Palmer and Mrs. John Shook.

Sealed program was in charge of the program committee. A vocal solo, "Christ in Flanders," by Ward Stephens and Gordon Johnstone, was rendered by Mrs. J. C. Stout. Mrs. R. W. Cellars was accompanist. Guest speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. Harold Andrews, of Ashland college, whose subject was "The Greatest and Most Beautiful Book in the World—the Bible." She spoke of the dynamic and forceful English language with its range, depth, subtleties and humor. In her talk Mrs. Andrews pointed out that the influences for the greatness, beauty and effectiveness of the English language are (1) Shakespeare and (2) King James' version of the Bible.

She reminded her audience that in the Bible there is smooth, straight rhythm flexibility and lack of ornamentation. The language beats and there is high Latinity. This also is evident in writings of Walt Whitman, Carl Sandburg and Vachel Linday, said Mrs. Andrews.

Excerpts from Moulton's "Modern Reader's Bible" were given by the speaker. In conclusion, she stated that "the powerful and potent Bible is of great literary value and tradition and has a great spiritual message. We need its simplicity of speech, its driving and dynamic words. It should be the literature of the time."

Mrs. C. C. Wadsworth will be hostess for the next meeting of the club on Jan. 20 at her home, 147 North Mulberry street.

CLUB HEARS TALK ON "PARTY ORGANIZATION"

Louis Bromfield Speaks to Members and Guests of Dolly Madison Club on Present and Horse-and-Buggy Day Politics.

LOUIS BROMFIELD gave an interesting and timely talk on "Party Organization" at the meeting of the Dolly Madison club held Tuesday evening at the Liberty park pavilion. During his speech Mr. Bromfield stressed the difference in today's politics and politics in the horse-and-buggy days. He also urged the purchase of defense bonds.

One hundred and twenty-five club members, their husbands and their guests attended the meeting. A covered-dish dinner was served at 6:30 p. m. at long tables decorated with red, white and blue appointments and lighted tapers. Group singing was led by Mrs. Albert Bellore following the dinner. Mrs. Clark Brook, president, conducted a short business session and announced that the money that was to be used for a dinner-bridge next month will be donated to the Red Cross.

Janice and Joan Brandt sang a group of duets. A short talk was given by C. E. Mitchell, chairman of the board of county commissioners. Hostesses for the dinner were Mrs. C. E. Mitchell, chairman; Mrs. William Schrack, Mrs. Charles Chew, Mrs. William Bell, Mrs. Thelma Becker, Mrs. Herman Homberger, Mrs. J. F. Elliott, Mrs. Joseph Jacot, Mrs. Gilbert Logan, Mrs. Mae Riggle, Mrs. Carl Stough, Mrs. Hazel Winters, Mrs. Frank Long, Mrs. Nona Darling, Mrs. Lucy Downend and Mrs. Steve Dalton. The next regular business meeting will be held Feb. 3 in the Democratic headquarters.

C. L. of C. Will Have Installation Of Officers Soon

Ten tables of card games were in play last evening when the Catholic Ladies of Columbia met in the club rooms in the Bird building. Prizes in bridge were won by Mrs. C. H. Stuhldreher and Mrs. Joseph Seibert. Mrs. John Shill and Mrs. Harry Landis were winners in five hundred and the special prize was awarded to Mrs. Edward Davis.

Mrs. Delbert Hurlow presided for the business session, following which luncheon was served at small tables. Next meeting will be held on Jan. 20 in the club rooms. There will be a business session and installation of officers, followed by a social hour. Mrs. Helen Doyle, of Springfield, supreme president, will be installing officer.

Helpers Circle Plans to Have Dinner Feb. 3

Twenty-two members were present for the meeting of the Helpers Circle which was held Tuesday in the parish house of the First Lutheran church. Miss Ethel Wirts had charge of the devotional service and the business session was conducted by Mrs. Harry Wolf, who then turned the gavel over to the newly elected president, Miss Ella Hoffman.

Attired in an appropriate costume, Mrs. J. R. Turner gave a reading on the "Life of Betsy Ross." Shirley Lay entertained with several accordion solos. Refreshments were served by the following hostesses: Mrs. Helen Huffman, Mrs. Pearl Leuthner, Miss Edith Binau, Mrs. Frieda Hall and Mrs. Artie Barrett.

On Feb. 3 the Circle will have a covered-dish at the parish house with Mrs. Earl Dye as chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Miss Nelle Kern will be program chairman

Former Resident Wed In Missouri

Mansfielders are learning with this announcement of the marriage of a former Mansfield resident, Miss Gloria Fisher, now Mrs Galen Kintner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Fisher, Decatur, Ill., which was solemnized Nov. 9, 1941, in Warrenton, Missouri. The former Miss Fisher exchanged nuptial vows with Mr. Kintner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gay Kintner, of Decatur, Ill., in the Methodist church, Rev. George A. McFarland officiating.

Mrs. Kintner attended Mansfield Senior high school and left the city several years ago to make her home with her parents in Decatur. Mr. Kintner is now attending Illinois State Normal university.

Baptist Church Guild Meeting

Mrs. Albert L. Linder reviewed the book, "Author of Liberty" by Robert W. Searle at the meeting of the Senior World Wide Guild of the Park Avenue Baptist church held Tuesday afternoon at the church. Mrs. Lawrence Whisler, hostess, was assisted by Mrs. Wayne Williams and Miss Edna Boswell. Eighteen members were in attendance.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Joseph Hecht. Luncheon was served at the close of the meeting. The next regular session will be held at the church on Feb. 3. Hostess will be Mrs. Paul Birmelin. She will be assisted by Mrs. Charles Glasgow and Mrs. Robert Small.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, Jan. 8.
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

REMARKABLE opportunities for achievement, fulfilled ambitions and enduring success and good fortune are read from the interesting lunar and mutual aspects of ruling planets. These figures are the Open Sesame to the most unique, original, exalted as well as safe and sound aspirations and objectives. In such rare programs both the old tried and true friends as well as stangers and other unconventional and unorthodox personages may be looked for to give outstanding support and encouragement. While it may be the part of wisdom to be inspired and guided by the intuitive urges, judgment must also be brought to bear on current issues.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year of exceptional opportunity for branching out into realms of the speculative, experimental and radical, and as well by creative work both brilliant and constructive on practical lines. The sound faculties should be supported by sharpened intuitions, hunches and occult, psychic or peculiar inner leadings. But these should all be submitted to the court of last resort—logic, reason and the wise counsel of elders, superiors and the dictates of established order. Impetuosity, sarcastic and reckless word and act might undermine extraordinary opportunities. Great intellectual and inventive genius seeks expression.

A child born on this day should be exceptionally endowed with intellectual faculties, sustained by inner spiritual, psychic, intuitive creative urges, seeking expression in some sort of unique form. It should have advanced ideals and a most winning personality.

CROCHETED ACCESSORIES PATTERN 2993

'Tween age and teen age girls love the wool pigtails on this crocheted cap. Popcorn trimmed mittens, cap and scarf make a smart set for all winter sports. Pattern 2993 contains directions for making the set in 12-16 year sizes; illustrations of it and stitches; materials required.

Send ten cents in coin for this pattern to The Mansfield News-Journal, Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

You'll love the figure flattery of this stunning jacket ensemble by Marian Martin! Pattern 9981 features a simple, becoming dress with two slim panels in the skirt to give you height. The darts that make the bodice so trim are repeated on three-quarter sleeves. (Short sleeves are optional.) The jacket has gently scalloped tuxedo bands which are very new—the neck of the dress is rounded to match. These bands may be made of the same fabric as the dress, and the jacket of contrast: make the jacket with long sleeves if you like. The Sew Chart shows you how to face the neckline of this frock neatly.

Pattern 9981 may be ordered only in women's sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 5⅝ yards 39 inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address, and style number.

Send your order to The Mansfield News-Journal, Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

I OFTEN have had and read of silences that can be felt, and for the space of several seconds following my appeal to Noel, I experienced one. Not daring to look at him directly, I apparently fixed my gaze upon my hands resting in my lap, but used my old trick of peering from under my lowered eyelids at his face, so plainly reflecting the storm of emotion which was shaking him.

Rebellious rage was waging a bitter-end fight against his native chivalry, his desire to do everything possible for the rescue of Marion. My knowledge of the high-principled, lovable young man told me that there could be but one outcome of the battle, no matter how weary the toll it took of his heart and spirit. So I was not surprised when at last the lines of his contorted face smoothed themselves out and his shoulders squared into resolution.

Madge Wins

"Well, you've won!" he said heavily, his voice betraying the bitterness which he had not yet been able to vanquish. "I can't stand out, of course, against a setup like that. So—will you tell Mary it's okay with me. She can go as far as she likes with her—her investigations."

I waited for a long quarter of a minute, trying to frame an answer which would not goad him to any further resentment.

"I wouldn't be doing justice to your wife, Noel," I said at last, "if I didn't stress the point that it isn't a case of Mary going as far as she likes, as you put it. She won't enjoy this any more than you will. Besides she is furiously resentful at Steve because of his subversive activities. You know how intensely patriotic Mary it."

"Yes, I know," he acknowledged, a bit sullenly, as I paused breathlessly to thank my special little joss for saving me from a headlong revelation of the real cause of Mary's anger against Redfield—his slur concerning Noel—and of her outburst against her leading man.

Test of Chivalry.

If her husband had heard that, he would have realized that Mary must cajole Redfield back to forgiveness of her, and I did not think even his chivalrous anxiety for Marion could have stood that test.

"She is going through with a most disagreeable task, because her love for Marion and her strong sense of patriotic duty have made her yield to my father's mandate, subject to your approval. I know that when you tell her it is all right, she will be very happy."

"But I am not going to tell her anything of the kind," he said, and my hopes slid to zero again at his apparent change of mind.

"Oh, I'll stand by what I said. I won't raise a single objection to whatever she plans to do. But I never shall mention the subject to her, and I never want to hear a single word about it from her. I—I couldn't stand that.

Madge to Tell Mary.

"You'll have to tell her and your father that I consent. But from now on I don't want even you to say a single word about it to me. I'm going to put the whole miserable business as far out of my mind as I can get it.

"There's only one thing," he went on after another pregnant pause. "You said, I think, that she will be adequately protected by your father's men—without Redfield's knowledge—at these meetings."

"That I guarantee you personally, Noel," I said quickly.

"Then," he said, "I have only to ask you to tell Mary never to indicate by word or manner when she has an engagement with that—that cur. I never shall ask her any questions, and until this is over I shall make no engagements for or with her myself. But, I shall always be at her service if she wishes to go anywhere. Will you please tell her those things?"

Reports to Mary.

"Gladly, dear boy," I said rising and putting out my hand in farewell. I did not dare add another word, for I knew he had heard all he could stand, and that he needed to be alone to pull himself together. But the look on his face as he said "good-bye" pulled at my heartstrings, it was so like that of a bewildered and cruelly hurt small boy.

That look haunted me as I went back to my own suite, and it imbued my answer to Mary when she looked up and said anxiously, "Well, what luck?"

"It's all right," I said heavily. "He consents. But you must be very tender, very forbearing with any action of his, Mary, for he is suffering horribly over this thing."

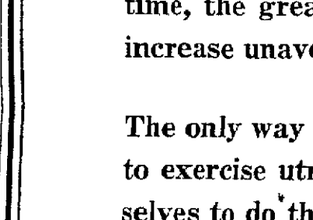
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BY
Shepard Barclay
"The Authority on Authorities"

MANY POINTS INVOLVED

Most bridge hands are such that each of them offers only one interesting feature of any particular importance. Once in a while, however, a deal comes along which presents a great series of them. There may be a point regarding constructive bidding to reach the highest safe contract, questions of pre-emptive bidding to shut out the opponents, problems of overbidding to take a deliberate sacrifice, questions regarding the best opening lead and points on the best play after the dummy has been exposed.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

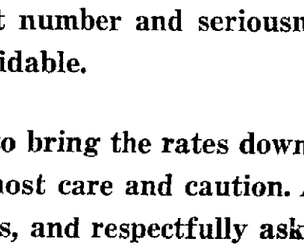
South	West	North	East
Pass	3 ♦	Pass	3 ♥
Pass	3 NT	4 ♠	5 ♦
Dbl	Rdbl

West, able to take probably eight tricks in her own hand, could have afforded to make an opening bid of 4-Diamonds even when vulnerable, but she was Mrs. William Cheeks of Washington, who with her husband shares in holding the National Amateur Team of Four Championship and aids him in conducting one of the finest bridge clubs in the country. Knowing practical contract, she deliberately underbid her hand by one to outwit the opponents.

Mr. Cheeks made perfect constructive bids on both of his turns in the East. North also made a perfect sacrifice effort of 4-Spades. His partner, holding as many as four of these, had a difficult decision between doubling and bidding 5-Spades, for fear that his spade A might be trumped. Mrs. Cheeks, with confidence in her husband, was really daring with her redouble. It turns out that the 4-Spades could be set only one trick.

If North had led a club, the contract would have been set, but he led his spade Q to the K and A. South, seeing that the heart suit would furnish discards, made the only play to prevent an extra trick, laying down his club A, but his opponent already had taken top score on the deal, which was played in the National Championships at Richmond, Va.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

If the spade 5 is led against South's contract of 4-No Trumps, how should he play this hand to get the maximum result?

AUTOMOBILE Collision Rates Are Up

Much as we regret that an increase in collision rates had to come at this time, the great number and seriousness of collision losses made a rate increase unavoidable.

The only way to bring the rates down again is for each of us, who drive, to exercise utmost care and caution. As insurance agents, we pledge ourselves to do this, and respectfully ask you to do likewise.

TIRES ARE SCARCE

Conservation of tires has repeatedly been requested, yet many drivers are still wasting rubber and gasoline by driving at high speed and by making quick starts and abrupt stops. Those who do this will later repent their wasteful ways.

If your car is not insured against theft, you should insure it NOW; theft of tires, accessories and cars will increase. It is of great importance that you guard in every way possible against theft—insurance will pay for your loss but it cannot guarantee replacement.

NEW AUTOMOBILES WILL BE FEWER

It is therefore obvious that cars should be given the best of care, and driven cautiously, that they may last for the duration.

Detroit Eagles Take Rubber Game From Toledo Club

Sport Podge by Rex Hess

"You can put it in the paper," said Paul Brown, coach of Ohio State's surprising gridders, "that it is rumored some of your Mansfield Tygers may be attending Ohio State next fall."

Several minutes later Mr. Brown was seen chatting to several persons whom one of my best sleuths readily identified as Mansfield Tygers.

Whether Mr. P. was pursuing the rumor he'd just heard, or was merely passing the time of day, the sleuth saveth not.

But the rumor really wasn't new. Mr. P. could have read it in this column a month or more ago.

* * *

The Madison Rams, so I hear, are having twin trouble, but they're keeping it in reserve.

Jack and Dick Selby, Ram reserve basketballers, are so identical that Coach Al Fendrick long since has given up trying to tell them apart.

When the reserves are scrimmaging in jerseys, Al hopes his regulars can tell the boys apart by their numbers. But when they're playing sans shirts, as sometimes happens, Fendrick makes one of them wear a cap. Which one? He doesn't know.

Assistant Coach Bill Kopcial says he can tell the twins apart. He just yells "Jack," or "Dick," and when one of them answers, he knows he's got the right one. He thinks.

Mansfield Provident Loan girls will be glad to hear that the bride is still pitching, in something similar to the underhand sort of way required by softball rules

The bride, you may recall, is Fran Knapp, star flinger for the state champions.

Fran has just won the Ashland Times-Gazette's annual bowling tournament.

In winning the title, Fran proved again that she's a good competitor, which is what it takes to win championships.

Her average this season is 139, but during the tournament she rolled the biggest score of her life, and turned in a tourney average of 167. That's meeting competition when the competition gets tough.

* * *

And speaking of bowling champions, let me introduce Joe Prosser, pin boy at Colony alleys. Joe recently set 106 lines in an afternoon and evening, on the HAND-SET alleys. That's pickin' 'em up and settin' 'em down.

Donna Schuster Paces Matineers

Donna Schuster set the pace again in the Women's matinee bowling league at Colony alleys yesterday with a 492 total, while Hazel Hilborn marked up high game of 192.

High team total went to Max Diner with 1882.

BABE RECOVERING

NEW YORK—(AP)—Friends of Babe Ruth reported today the former home run king was "doing fine" at the private hospital where he was taken Saturday.

Grid Rules To Remain The Same

Committee Frowns on Two Practices But That's All.

By ROBERT MYERS

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — The 1942 college football rulebook remains almost exactly as it was last season, but the governing rules committee clarified a few points and wrote two stern frowns into the text on a couple of practices.

One raised eyebrow was directed at officials taking the easy way out in calling both teams off-side and, while the crowd yawned, making them replay the maneuver.

Advisory coaches sitting in at the rules meeting yesterday joined with Chairman Walter Okeson in condemning the practice. Usually, they said, it is apparent that one or the other eleven is off-side and there is a rule that says when one player draws another off-side, number one's team should get five yards—backward.

"We want to eliminate this double off-side matter," said Okeson.

The hideout, or sleeper play, where it is screened by substitutions, was also frowned upon and a 15-yard penalty attached for future reference. This type of play comes when a coach sends in, say, five players. In the confusion, six players start off the field—only one stops at the sideline and takes refuge in the cluster of chain-handlers, the headlinesman and possibly eight photographers.

The sleeper play with the wide flanker is all right—but not under this kind of wrap.

Gone, too, under the 1942 supplemented rules, is the reversed-center, which gained prominence last season on Ossie Solem's Syracuse team. It was described as the "Y-formation."

* * *

Alonzo Stagg sounded the keynote of its death knell:

"Football is a combat game, and should not be played by players turning their backs to their opponents."

The new rule clarification says that a player, to be legally on the line of scrimmage, must face his opponents' end line, and his feet must be behind the ball.

* * *

Another supplemental note provides that in the last two minutes of a half a referee may start or stop the clock if, in his opinion one team or the other is intentionally trying to delay a game by sending in substitutes.

TRIBE PITCHERS CALLED TO TRAINING ON FEB. 23

CLEVELAND —(INS)—Cleveland Indian pitchers were ordered today by Manager Lou Boudreau to report to the Clearwater, Fla., training camp on Feb. 23, two days ahead of infielders and outfielders, as General Manager Roger Peckinpaugh announced a schedule of 31 exhibition games.

The Tribe will play the New York Giants in 15 spring training games, four with the Cincinnati Reds, two each with the Cardinals, Braves, Red Sox, Senators, Tigers and Kansas City Blues.

Rams Down Lucas, 39-17

Lead All the Way In Non-League Cage Tilt.

Madison high school's Rams easily passed Lucas cagers, 39-17, last night in a non-league game on Ram hill although Coach Al Fendrick substituted freely in the later part of the game.

No points were scored during the first two minutes of play, but finally Harold Hammer, Ram forward, caged a field goal and from there on the Rams led all the way, holding a 6-0 lead at the end of the first quarter and increasing their lead throughout the game.

At the end of the half they held a 12-6 lead and by the end of the third quarter led, 23-13. In the final stanza Hammer and Dick Bader had a field day and ran rough-shod over the Lucasmen.

High scorer was Hammer with six field goals and two free throws for 14 points. Following him was Willy Wynn with three field goals and one free throw for seven points, and Ken Windsor, Ram guard, with the same tally.

High scorers for Coach Lawrence Deckrosh's Lucas team were John Stotts and Dick Baer, both with five points.

The Rams also took the reserve game when Coach William Kopocial's boys made 16 points to Lucas' 12.

Plymouth Shades North Fairfield

By the scant margin of one free throw Plymouth basketeers shaded North Fairfield high in a Twin-Valley Loop game last night on the North Fairfield floor, 29-28.

The free throw was registered by Dick Thomas in an overtime period with the score standing 28 all.

North Fairfield led at the end of the first quarter, 5-4, but Plymouth forged into the lead, 13-10, at the end of the half.

In the third quarter Sikora of North Fairfield, sank two baskets and two field goals while Plymouth was sinking but three points and tied the game up at 16 all.

Both teams tallied 10 points in the hectic fourth quarter and the game went into overtime.

Plymouth won the reserve tilt, 17-15.

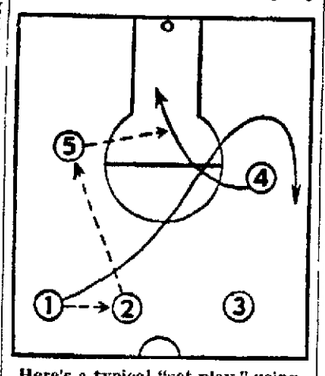
Set Offense Designed to Keep Possession of Ball

By CLAIR BEE
(Long Island University Coach)

NEW YORK —(AP)— "Your opponent can't score while you're holding the ball."

That's the theory behind the "set offense" plan of attack, a system that's used successfully by some of the nation's best basketball teams.



Here's a typical "set play," using a double post system. No. 1 passes to No. 2 and moves in front of No. 2, screening for him, then moves on down and screens for No. 4. No. 2 passes to No. 5, who half-pivots and whips the ball in to No. 4, who has cut for the basket. Broken lines indicate passes, unbroken lines the paths of the men.

The "set offense" team is the calm, deliberate outfit that lets the enemy set its defense, sizes up that defense, and then—on signal—starts a well-organized, detailed play designed to end up with a perfect shot at the basket.

The Oklahoma Aggies, Colorado, Penn State, Pitt, Tennessee, Kentucky, Rice, and North Carolina are a few of the clubs which feature it.

The system requires thorough coaching by a tutor whose patience is unlimited. It's a tough job to teach a bunch of impetuous, college-age kids to work methodically toward the basket, making what often seems to be an unnecessarily great number of preliminary passes before there's anything like a drive for the basket.

The material requirements are not so rigid as in some other methods of attack but the coach must have at least one man who can diagnose defenses and hold the club in perfect equilibrium.

Most "set offense" teams build their attack around a pivot man, who sets up a post near the foul circle. He's the hub of most plays, receiving a pass from outside and feeding it to speedy men who cut by him. That's the idea contributed to the game by Chuck Dehnert, the old New York Celtics star.

In 1926, at Rider college, I worked out a plan calling for a "double post" attack, using a man at either side of the foul circle. I found that it opened up the center of the floor so that a man could break straight through the middle. That way we had three scoring avenues instead of just the two at the side of the floor. The idea caught on and is used in many sections of the country now.

Remember that the true "set offense" system calls for a specific play. The key man in the attack usually signals the play, either by dribbling or passing when he gets the ball, by the direction in which he dribbles or passes, or by some other prearanged signal.

Some teams, notably Manhattan and Penn State, have gone so far as to call signals in football style.

Similar in appearance to the untrained eye, but different in design, is the so-called Eastern—or profession—style of attack.

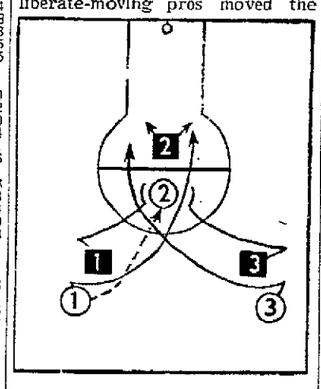
It got its name from the old-time professional basketball which flourished many years ago in the East and Middle West. The deliberate-moving pros moved the ball up the floor calmly, without any show—and without any set plan of attack.



This is the pivot attack system as originally introduced by Chuck Dehnert of the old New York Celtics. Taking his position (Circle No. 2), he was the hub of the attack, taking passes from outside and passing to Circle No. 1 or Circle No. 3 as they cut by him. There are scores of variations of this basic attack.

They depended on clever ball handling, faking, feinting, and pivoting until they could throw an opponent off balance or get him to turn his head. Then it was katy-bar-the-door. They whipped the ball into scoring position with dazzling speed and made their two points look easy.

After Dehnert introduced the pivot play, the post man became an integral part of this system and the ball was zipped in to him, back out toward midcourt, and back again until he saw an opening to a hard-cutting forward. The pivot may be stationed anywhere in the front court except in the large area bounded by the three-second rule.

* * *

Eastern colleges picked up this style from the pros, but "eastern style" is a misnomer now. Sam Barry at Southern Cal is a strong advocate of this attack and Coach McMillen uses it effectively at Minnesota. Nat Holman at City college, Paul Mooney at Columbia, and Elmer Ripley at Columbia are a few of the eastern coaches who have used it.

Now, with the offense covered, we'll go into basketball's current "hot potato" — the defense — for the next discussion.

Chuckovits 'Held' to Mere Fifteen Points

Dehnert's Celtic-Style Game Produces Second-Half Scoring

OLD DUTCH DEHNERT'S world champion professional basketball club, the Detroit Eagles, playing the Celtic brand of ball the Dutchman was used to seeing in his younger and less rotund days, took the rubber game of a three-game series from Chuck Chuckovits and the Toledo Jim White Chevies at Mansfield high school gym last night 53-40.

Chuckovits and his chums copped the series opener in Cleveland Sunday night, but Dehnert's Detroiters bounced back with a 49-48 decision Monday night at Port Clinton.

"After that Cleveland game," the Dutchman declared, "I decided the only way to beat this Toledo club was to play 'em at their own game—fast passing and fast ball-handling."

Detroit really put on an exhibition of fast ball-handling in the second half last night, repeatedly working the Toledo man-for-man defense out of position with a rapid-fire, figure-eight front shuttle system of passwork.

There seemed to be a bit of animosity between the two clubs on the third night of their trip, and the Eagles departed from the customary pro formula of winning by only a few points. They poured it on once they got going in the second half, and there was never any indication that they might slow up to make the final score look good.

However, they won their ball game by some crude defensive tactics which consisted simply of jumping on, hanging on, and laughing at the rule that benches a player with five personal fouls.

Parry, who was given the job of stopping Chuckovits, was the worst offender in this barnyard style of defensive basketball. When Dehnert finally took him out of the ball game in the last quarter, he had seven fouls marked against him and seven times seven could have been called.

It wasn't the kind of basketball the fans wanted to see. They did want to see Chuckovits, always a favorite here, work against big-time opposition, and they wanted to see him shoot. But harnessed and saddled as he was by Parry, he had little chance to perform in his usual style.

Still, after the game, when Dehnert glanced at the scorebook and saw 15 points chalked up beside the Chucker's name, he remarked: "He still gets his points, doesn't he?"

Chuck had just tallied 52 points in the first two games against the Eagles, 25 at Cleveland and 27 at Port Clinton.

ASHLAND GRAND JURY RETURNS 9 INDICTMENTS

Driver Indicted on Charge of Manslaughter After Traffic Death.

ASHLAND—Closing a two-day session Tuesday afternoon Ashland county grand jurors returned nine indictments in 18 cases considered by them.

John Skvarek of Bobtown, Pa., was indicted for manslaughter in the death of Samuel F. Thomas, detective of Akron, which followed an automobile accident on route 224 on Nov. 16, 1941. Skvarek, arrested following the death of Thomas, was released on bond.

Pete Marsh and Earl Clifford Sparks of Sandusky and Christ Stuhldreher of Ashland were indicted for carrying concealed weapons. The trio was arrested by Sheriff L. D. Hammond on Sept. 21, 1941, and all three were later released from the county jail on bond.

Albert Hightower, colored, of Newark, was also indicted for carrying concealed weapons and has been a prisoner in the county jail since his arrest Dec. 28.

Samuel Whitcomb and Stanley Bracken of Mifflin were indicted for assault and battery on H. W. Jarvis on Dec. 16, 1941. They are out on bond.

Earl Kauffman, formerly of Ashland, was indicted on two counts of operating an automobile belonging to George W. Buzzard without the consent of the owner. He has been held in the county jail since Dec. 3 when he was returned to Ashland from Texas by Sheriff L. D. Hammond.

William Park, formerly of Ashland, was indicted for non-support.

The grand jurors examined 24 witnesses in the 18 cases. They refused to indict R. G. Mason, Milo McLaughlin, G. L. Dickerson, Harry Shrimplin, K. G. Kirkpatrick, Raymond Taylor and Harold Spring.

At the conclusion of testimony Tuesday afternoon they made inspection of the county jail and recommended that linoleum on third floor hallway be repaired, that electrical work redesigned and wired as contracted for be completed immediately; that windows in jail office be tightened and stairway leading up from main floor be painted.

L. G. Boyer served as foreman of the jury.

As a diversion, King Gustaf V of Sweden does embroidery work and makes presents of his handiwork to members of his family.

PLEADS GUILTY

SHELBY — Pleading guilty to unsafe operation of a car here, Donald Young of North Auburn was fined $5 and costs of $6.20 in Mayor W. R. Morris' court Tuesday.

Mayor Morris suspended the fine and costs providing that Young pay damage to a car owned by Charles Dodge, Shelby, which figured in an accident with Young's car at the intersection of North Broadway and Whitney avenue Tuesday.

CLERK WARNED

BUCYRUS — Joe M. Royer, county clerk of courts, today received notice from State Registrar Cylon W. Wallace, not to issue certificates of title for 1942 model motor cars, either trucks or passenger cars or for trucks and passenger cars driven less than 1,000 miles unless sale and delivery was made prior to Jan. 1, 1942.

MAYOR NAMES COMMITTEES AT NEW LONDON COUNCIL MEETING

NEW LONDON—Appointment of committees, revision of some offices, salary adjustments in others, and selection of a depository for village funds, formed the major portion of business at the initial meeting of New London council on Monday evening, when Raymond N. Watts, 25-year old attorney, took office as mayor, with four new faces in the councilmanic ranks.

Ex-Mayor Clark A. Blackman officiated at the "swearing in" of the new village officials, including the mayor, and Councilmen W. C. White, D. B. Barnes, jr., E. C. Rasmussen and D. M. Weekly as new members, and Charles Dawson and Frank Lawrence, retained from the previous administration, and the new village treasurer, Joseph E. Hubbard.

Following the opening of council, Lawrence was elected council president, and Mayor Watts named his committees, subject to ratification by council, as follows: street and sewers: White, Dawson; police, fire, and health, Weekly, Barnes; utilities, Lawrence, Rasmussen; sidewalks, Dawson, White; hospital board, Lawrence, Rasmussen; parks, Weekly, Barnes; fire chief, R. J. Bruce; cemetery board, R. H. Seiler, Supt. Ella Marlows, William Whitney.

These committees were ratified. Glen Cooke was retained as the parks caretaker.

A new salary ordinance was introduced, calling for revision of the marshal's salary, from $100 monthly to $130 per month; an increase from $125 monthly to $140 per month, in the waterworks' superintendent's salary, a salary of $10 per month for the newly created general superintendent of the cemetery, and $2 monthly to each of the cemetery trustees.

Mayor Watts recommended the appointment of former deputy Marshal Kenneth Murr to marshal, and Munro Rhoads as deputy These appointments were confirmed.

Bills amounting to $243.79 for the village, and $454.49 sewer expenses approved. The Savings and Loan Banking company was named as depository for village funds.

COURT NEWS IN ASHLAND COUNTY

ASHLAND—Irwin G. White has been granted permission in Ashland common pleas court to withdraw as one of the plaintiffs in the suit brought by E. O. Zimmerman and others against the federal wheat quota program, Jake W. Stamnn et al., having been named defendants in the petition filed.

Suit of L. N. Russell against Stewart and Thelma L. Barnett has been settled and dismissed in common pleas court.

Action to sell chattel property, an automobile, to satisfy a judgment of $152.22 is sought in a suit filed in common pleas court by Fred Wharton against the General Finance company of Mansfield and Clifford Dashem of Ashland.

Judgment of $1,449.60 on a cognovit note has been entered in common pleas court in favor of the C. S. Garretson Lumber company of Ashland against George R. Gault of Norwalk.

In the suit of Thelma McLaughlin against Milo McLaughlin the defendant has been relieved of support following an agreement whereby the defendant pays the plaintiff $1,000.

MAKES ANNUAL REPORT

CRESTLINE—Marie Schill, registrar of vital statistics for Crestline and Jackson, Jefferson and Vernon townships, in her report for the year 1941, listed 63 deaths, 127 new births and 14 births which had never been recorded.

APPROPRIATIONS APPROVED BY BUCYRUS BODY

Council O. K.'s Expenditure of $382,490 During Tuesday Session.

BUCYRUS — An appropriation budget providing for expenditures of $382,490.28 was approved by city council Tuesday night.

This year's appropriations are only slightly more than $2,000 over those for last year.

In offering the anticipated list City Auditor E. C. Oppenlander and Finance Chairman H. J. Carle said that the appropriations were arranged with a view of economizing this year and that no new endeavors are provided for in any department.

Appropriated from the general fund was $105,829; hospital fund, $70,700; offices, $4,900; supply, $1,300; filtration, $7,716; pumping, $13,362; distribution, $10,000; extraordinary purposes, $5,500; transfers, $117,820. The balance was in special funds, general bond retirement fund, and waterworks bond retirement fund.

Several reports were received by council at its first meeting of the new year marked by a return to office of all municipal officials of 1941 with one exception, Solicitor Paul C. Kennedy, who replaces Harold Metcalf.

Among reports received was that of the police department, which was submitted by Chief Arthur Stuckert and which showed an all-time high for traffic violation arrests, 156 during 1940. The department also reported the arrest of 35 drunken drivers, this, too, being an all-time high.

During the year there were 248 arrests with August leading in number with 32. The 248 does not include traffic violations.

Another report from Fire Chief William Mader showed that the fire department during 1940 spent $14,509.57 of which $10,825.50 was for firemen and $81,748 for special firemen. Apparatus cost $382.20. Last year the department spent $14,211.24.

Mayor W. F. Whiteamire reappointed Carl Jacobs, safety director; Fred Judd, service director, and named Mrs. Iva Christman to the health board and E. J. Ellis, Mrs. J. E. Faulkner and Lloyd Deerwester to the library board. He also reappointed C. A. Michael to the civil service commission.

Council re-elected H. A. Barth to serve as council clerk for the next two years.

SET BUCYRUS TIRE QUOTAS

BUCYRRUS — Bucyrus will receive 19.69 per cent of the county tire quota for January, according to figures received today by J. C. Hull, county tire coordinator. The county's quota has been set at 30 tires and 25 tubes for passenger cars and 65 tires and 54 tubes for trucks.

Other percentages to be alloted to municipalities in the county are as follows: Galion, 18.55 percent; Crestline, 5.96 percent; New Washington, 2.65 percent; Chatfield, 1.25 percent; North Robinson, .54 percent; Tiro, .66 percent, and rural districts, 50.70 percent.

FUNERAL SET

BUCYRUS — Funeral services will be held Thursday at 1:30 p. m. in the Wise funeral home for John Orville Ebert, 74, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. O. A. Wilson, Bucyrus R. D. 4, Tuesday. Burial will be made in Dunkirk cemetery.

The deceased was born in Dunkirk, July 28, 1867, and for many years was employed in Bucyrus at the Harrop and Faulkner livery barn. He had been retired for 15 years.

BOARD ORGANIZES

ASHLAND — Charles W. Freer was re-elected president of the Ashland city board of education at the annual reorganization meeting. Edgar Koehl was elected vice president and Philip Lersch, clerk.

WED AT CHURCH

BUCYRUS—In quiet nuptials in Epworth Methodist church Sunday at noon, Miss Freda Kalb of near New Washington exchanged marriage vows with Dale Dobbins, son of Mrs. Amy Dobbins of Holmes-Liberty. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kalb.

Members of the immediate families were present for a dinner at the Kalb home following the service.

The couple are making their home with the bridegroom's mother.

THEATERS

Romantic Musical.

"The Chocolate Soldier," a romantic musical with a brilliant new songbird, Rise Stevens, and Nelson Eddy, opens Wednesday at the Ohio. While the picture takes its name from the Oscar Straus comic opera the story smacks of Molnar's "The Guardsman," since it deals with the humorous ruse employed by a young and jealous husband to test the faithfulness of his beautiful young wife. The couple are the musical comedy toasts of the town whose endearments on the stage turn to quarrels once the curtain is down. Nigel Bruce, Florence Bates and Nydia Westman are in the cast.

Horror Drama.

"Among the Living," horror picture with Albert Dekker furnishing the chills, is playing at the Madison with Susan Hayward, Harry Carey and Frances Farmer in the cast. Dekker, in a dual role, plays a millionaire mill owner and also the latter's twin, a homicidal maniac. The latter embarks upon a career of murder once he escapes confinement. Hugh Herbert furnishes comedy in "Don't Get Personal," the second picture.

Action Drama.

"Man At Large," with Marjorie Weaver, George Reeves and Richard Derr, starts today at the Ritz. Richard Arlen and Andy Devine are featured in the second attraction, "Raiders of the Desert."

Newspaper Story.

A pretty socialite enters upon a deal with the underworld so that a newspaper reporter can get a good story and thereby win back the job the girl had lost for him in a moment of annoyance in the current Park attraction "Public Enemies." Wendy Barrie plays the girl and Phillip Terry, the reporter. Edgar Kennedy and William Frawley are in the cast. Una Merkel turns her back on her hometown in "Cracked Nuts," the second picture, dealing with what happens to one girl seeking a career in the city. Stuart Erwin, Mischa Auer and Astrid Allwyn are also cast.

Aerial Thriller.

The fight made by men of science to keep ahead of the breathtaking mechanical development of aviation is pictured in "Dive Bomber," the technicolor film, showing at the Majestic. Errol Flynn and Ralph Bellamy are cast as flight surgeons bent on research that will show them how to prevent altitude sickness, "black outs" from bombing dives, and other forms of reactions that beset men 30,000 to 50,000 feet in the air. Fred MacMurray is cast as one of the flyers and Alexis Smith is the girl in the story. "Highway West," with Olympe Bradna is the second attraction.

PATROLMAN NAMED

BUCYRUS—Robert Carlisle, extra on the Bucyrus police force since May 1, has been appointed as a regular patrolman. The force now consists of Chief A. L. Stuckert, Captain Wilbur Kennedy, identification officer, and seven regular patrolmen.

IN DANGER

WABASH, Ind —(U P)—The Wabash river, good old stand-by of many a songwriter, won't be so romantic in the near future.

Army engineers have been authorized by congress to make a detailed survey of flood control possibilities with possible erection of dikes along the river to prevent a recurrence of the disastrous 1937 Ohio valley flood. The Wabash is a tributary of the Ohio river

DON'T FLOCK TOGETHER.

WARREN, Me —(U P)— The adage "birds of a feather flock together," does not apply in the case of a robin in this village The robin has nested on the veranda of a bird house occupied by two families of swallows.

STOCK MARKET EDGES INTO LOWER GROUND

Early Dealings Reflect Minor Slump; Electric Power Consumption Up.

NEW YORK—The stock market edged into slightly lower ground in today's early dealings.

Business analysts noted the resumption in the climb of electric power consumption after a recession in the Christmas week.

Output for the week ended Jan. 3, as reported by the Edison Electric Institute, was 3,234,128,000 kilowatt hours, a rise of 1.6 per cent over the previous period and 15.5 per cent above the same time last year.

COUNCIL CUTS TRAFFIC SQUAD

Orders One Member Taken Off and Then Re-hires Collector For Parking Meters.

new traffic squad with five patrolmen started operation. Council specified that the new traffic squad make parking meter collections but the squad has actually made the collections less than three weeks since its creation.

Despite ordinances requesting the squad to make collections, Kochenderfer has been maintained as collector.

Last month, after the two patrolmen were added to the traffic squad, Fred Miller, Democratic councilman, announced that Republican and Democratic council members had agreed that with the appointment of the two new men that the traffic squad would assume the collection duties.

Councilman C. N. Shultz said that the collector was substituted for one of the new traffic patrolmen, because of the immediate need for an experienced collector and repair man for the meters.

Kochenderfer was appointed for a six-months' period and will be paid $135 monthly. He will collect meter receipts, repair meters and handle other traffic duties such as keeping of the new accident records.

ALIEN CARDS?

U. S. Considers Plan For Re-registration.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Attorney General Biddle said today that the government was considering a re-registration of the 1,100,000 enemy aliens in this country to provide "tighter control" along the lines followed during the first World war.

Biddle said that the idea would be to provide an identification card which every German, Italian and Japanese national in this country would be required to carry. The card would bear the picture of the alien.

The advisability of instituting stricter control was being considered, he said, and he indicated that a decision would be made soon.

Under the alien registration program carried out twice last year, the nearly 5,000,000 non-citizens who registered were given cards bearing a single fingerprint to show that they had complied with the law, but they are not required to carry these cards on their persons.

approximately $48,000 at the end of 1941.

The other six committees were solidly Republican with three "rookie" councilmen being named together on three committees and veterans being mixed with "rookies" on the remaing three.

New councilmen or "rookies" are Paul Bush, Sixth ward; Clifford Knarr, Third ward; James R. Anderson, and Roy W. Vaughn, councilmen-at-large, all Republicans; and Michael A. Mihalih, Fourth ward, Democrat.

Serving on the streets committee will be Anderson, Bush and Knarr. Other committees were named as follows: sewers, George C. Kyle, a veteran, Vaughn and Porch, a veteran; salaries, Bush, Knarr and Vaughn; claims, Vaughn, Porch and Kyle; utilities, Porch, Kyle and Anderson; and traffic, Knarr, Anderson and Bush.

The parks committee was eliminated because council handed over complete control of the parks' problem to the Mansfield parks commission last year.

Shultz was named president pro tempore to serve in the absence of President Miller.
